

*"The old order changeth, yielding place to new,
And God fulfils himself in many ways . . ."*

A quarter of a century ago, in Pierce Chapel, degrees were granted in liberal and fine arts to students who had shared the venerable halls and towers of Wesleyan. That day an era of college history closed. The following autumn the gates were opened on new and wide horizons. The old yielded to the new, and Rivoli, a dream, became reality. Now those fledgling silver days are done and precious golden years are dawning, filled with glory and shining promise. Today the old and the new fuse in one wonderful entity—Wesleyan. Yea, God fulfils himself.

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

VOL. XXIX
No. 3

AUGUST
1953

HISTORIC OLD DORMITORIES TO BE VACATED BY STUDENTS
Beginning in September Conservatory students will be housed at Rivoli.

WESLEYAN WILL END USE OF HISTORIC DORMITORIES

The dormitories in the historical old Wesleyan Conservatory building will be vacant this September for the first time since it was built in 1836.

Dr. B. Joseph Martin, president of Wesleyan College, made this announcement on May 22 shortly before the close of the school year, following action taken by the Board of Trustees to house all women students on the Rivoli campus and to teach as many courses as possible on that campus.

This move, according to Dr. Martin, is being made to better coordinate the overall Wesleyan College program and to enrich the curricular offerings of both the liberal and fine arts departments. "It will in no way curtail the fine arts program," he stated, "but it will avoid duplication and protect the financial budget."

ALUMNAE BACK CONSOLIDATION AT WESLEYAN

At the annual meeting of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association on May 30, the following resolution was read pledging to support the action of the Board of Trustees of Wesleyan, the audience backing the resolution with a rising vote of confidence:

Whereas, Wesleyan College, since its founding in 1836, the first college in the entire world to be chartered for women, has courageously and triumphantly ridden seas turbulent with prejudice, poverty, war, debt, and despair; and

Whereas, Wesleyan's progress through the years has involved changes of name, place, and personnel, always striving to meet the needs of the times and the students within its gates; and

Whereas, come still waters or stormy, come dark, come light, the Spirit of Wesleyan will never change, being intangible and shining, tied not to brick and stone and mortar, but buried deep within the hearts of those who love her; and

Whereas, following the march of progress toward Wesleyan's ultimate goal of leadership among women's colleges, a change is again contemplated; and

Whereas, Wesleyan's friends have always in times of greatest stress risen to aid and bolster her in every way at their command, be it spiritual, moral, or financial;

Therefore, be it resolved that we, her friends and daughters of the Board of Managers, National Officers, Alumnae Trustees and Past Trustees of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association, do hereby endorse the action taken by the Wesleyan Board of Trustees at their annual meeting, to wit: that the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees and any other persons who in the mind of the Board should be added, look into the advisability of housing all the girls at Rivoli and explore possibilities of offering the maximum number of classes on the Rivoli campus. In endorsing this resolution we pledge our support to help bring about, with God's help, the realization of a greater glory than Wesleyan has ever known.

SOME CONSERVATORY STUDENTS PROTEST

Dr. Martin met with the Conservatory students after the announcement was made in what he termed a "question and answer" session. The criticism that the fine arts program will lose its "distinctiveness" is not valid, Dr. Martin said. He advised that the fine arts school will continue to have its own dean, faculty and curriculum. However, as many classes as possible will be taught on the Rivoli campus; the others will still be taught at the Conservatory until such time as the fine arts building can be erected at Rivoli.

Among the students, the majority felt it was the thing to do; one group was somewhat neutral; and a small group was definitely against it. The Rivoli students were all for the change.

OLD BUILDING WILL BE KEPT

As to the future of the Wesleyan-owned Conservatory, Dr. Martin assured all that the Board of Trustees does not intend to sell or give away the building. "It will probably continue to serve a cultural function to the City of Macon," Dr. Martin pointed out.

Many friends of Wesleyan have asked how can the fine arts classes be taught on the Rivoli campus. As many classes as possible will be taught at Rivoli, but the drama department, radio department and other classes will continue to be held in the main building of the Conservatory. Some music studios will be located there also.

As many faculty members as desire to do so will be housed in the main building too. The outlook for the coming year is encouraging and the morale is high.

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

August, 1953

Malene (Lee) Morgan
Editor and Acting Alumnae Director

Published November, February, May and August. Subscription price $1.00 per year.

Member of the American Alumni Council

Entered as second-class matter—February 12, 1925, at the Post Office in Macon, Ga., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Address communications regarding change of address and news items to The Alumnae Office, Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia.

The Wesleyan Alumnae

The One Hundred And Fourteenth Commencement

The Wesleyan campus came to life again after the departure of most of the students when on the afternoon of May 29 the Alumnae came streaming in from all sections of the country for their class reunions. They came from as far away as New York City, Illinois, Ohio, New Mexico, the tip of Florida, the Carolinas, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Alabama.

The reunioners were "girls" again living the dormitory life, completely oblivious to husbands, children and jobs left behind. All were housed at Rivoli, most of them in Wortham Hall, the former Junior-Senior building, with the overflow going into Banks Hall, the former Sophomore building.

REUNION DINNER

Friday night the dinner for the members of the reunion classes, national officers, alumnae trustees, and club presidents was held at the Conservatory with the classes sitting together. However, the number making reservations was so large the reunioners of classes '49, '50, '51, and '52 were served dinner on the Rivoli campus.

Immediately following the dinner other alumnae joined these groups in the Conservatory Library for a brief business meeting presided over by Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, president. Virginia (Banks) St. John, '28, of Newnan and member of the silver anniversary class, opened the meeting with the following prayer:

"O God, we thank Thee for this Christian college and that we can come together again. We thank Thee that this great old institution has always stood for the noblest and highest Christian ideals, and we ask Thee to show all of us what we can do to make it serve Thee better in years to come. Bless its daughters wherever they are in the world. May they ever uphold the principles for which it was founded. May the influence of this great Christian institution ever spread the principles of peace around the world. Bless the president of Wesleyan and all its faculty and officers, and especially bless the graduating class going out this year. May they find their place of service on this earth. May this College so grow that by its influence the Kingdom of God may be realized. For Jesus' sake, Amen."

Brief reports were made by the national officers and the following clubs were represented: Atlanta, Augusta, Columbus,

Jacksonville, Macon, and Newnan. Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, after presenting Malene (Lee) Morgan, '32, who is Acting Alumnae Director while Eunice Thomson is on leave of absence to study for her master's, made a full report of her year's activity.

The highlight of the evening was the informal speech given by Margaret Chapman, of the silver anniversary class of 1928, who is Director of Publication Section, National Girl Scout Hqtrs., N. Y. Her subject was "Bright Intervals," and part of her speech is on page 7. After quite an ovation from her "captive audience," Freda presented Margaret with two Wesleyan Wedgwood plates from the Alumnae Association.

ALUMNAE DAY

Alumnae Day activities began with the program at Pierce Chapel at 11:00 Saturday morning, May 30, with Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, president, presiding. Music on the Wesleyan Bells was followed by the processional played on the organ by Herbert Herrington, B.M., Wesleyan College, and M.M.

To this music the seniors and their alumnae candle-lighters marched in and took their places in the center aisle. The invocation was given by Bessie (Houser) Nunn of the Golden Anniversary Class of 1903. The other members back for their Golden Anniversary were then invited to sit on the platform. They were, Nettie (Matthews) Head, and Annie Lou (Lovett) Fletcher. The candle-lighting ceremony inducting the class of 1953 into the Alumnae Association followed, with Freda (Kaplan) Nadler giving the traditional "Benson Charge" to the class.

Mary Addie (Murph) Mullino was in charge of the memorial service, honoring those alumnae who had died since last Commencement. The exquisite arrangement of lilies and magnolia blooms placed on the chapel platform in their memory was done by Adele (Warnock) Flournoy, member of silver anniversary class of 1928.

A duet, "Crucifix" by Faure, was sung by two of our newest alumnae, Peggy Smith, B.M., 1953, and Alice Ann Hamilton, A.B., 1953. They were accompanied by Mary Ann Fitzgerald, B.M., 1953.

When the reunion classes were introduced more than 300 alumnae stood when their classes were called.

Annie (Gantt) Anderson brought a report from the Nominating Committee due to the illness of Alice (Burden) Domingos, chairman of this committee. The following were unanimously elected: Dessa (Hays) Asher, alumnae trustee, to succeed Eleanor (McDonald) Storz; and Elizabeth (Loyall) Wood, new member of the Board of Managers. Louise (Davis) Davison of Atlanta then presented the new alumnae trustee.

Freda (Kaplan) Nadler announced the resignation of Ruth (Houser) Garrett from the Board of Managers and the appointment of Anna (Weaver) Lee to fill the unexpired term of one year.

Alice Ann Hamilton, president of the senior class at Rivoli, made the presentation of a tea table as their class gift to the College. Jane Fenn, president of the senior class at Conservatory, announced their class gift of $30.00. The Silver Anniversary Class of 1928 gave a check for $27.00 and the Macon Alumnae Club announced one $150.00 scholarship to go to a Miller High senior. These gifts were gratefully acknowledged by Dr. Martin. The Golden Anniversary Class of 1903 presented $32.00 later.

Special awards were next given to six outstanding Wesleyan alumnae, the citations being read by Mary Pate, '48. (For more about the awards, see pages 5 and 6.)

Freda (Kaplan) Nadler then read an invitation to all alumnae to attend the dedication of the Hammond organ for Camp Glisson in memory of John Gilmore, son of Rosaline (Jenkins) Gilmore, '19, the dedication to be on Saturday, June 20, in the chapel at Camp Glisson, with Bishop Arthur J. Moore as speaker.

Jacqueline (Howard) Edwards, first vice president, introduced the speaker, Dr. B. Joseph Martin, president of Wesleyan College. (See page 4.)

ALUMNAE LUNCHEON

The Alumnae Day Luncheon was held on the Rivoli campus, and the Anderson dining room was filled to capacity with Reunioners and other alumnae back for the day. Our thanks to Wray (Shepherd) Marsh, general chairman of Alumnae Activities, and to Emily Orr and Elizabeth (Conner) Tucker for the beautiful flowers at the Reunion Dinner and Luncheon.

THE ALUMNAE DAY SPEAKER

Dr. Martin used "The Task Before Us" as the subject of his address for the Alumnae Day program on May 30 at Pierce Chapel.

Speaking to the alumnae and the 85 graduates of the 1953 class, Dr. Martin emphasized that alumnae of Wesleyan can be proud of the history and traditions that characterize the College and of the fact that Wesleyan is a church college and will ever remain thus.

He urged them as alumnae to be loyal, to be informed, to be patient, and to be generous. Dr. Martin stressed the fact a college is subject to change now just as it has been in the past and just as all other things in this life. He begged the alumnae to be generous of spirit, big of mind, big of heart, quick to forgive, to understand, with the open hand of helpfulness, to be generous in their attitudes as well as in their finances.

Dr. Martin advised the alumnae that the college has been operating on a deficit and that no institution such as ours can continue that way. He spoke of the proposed change and said it was not a pleasant chore but that the Trustees of Wesleyan all agreed duplication must be eliminated. He stressed that no inherent value of Wesleyan is going to be sacrificed; no diluting; no crippling. He urged the alumnae to be understanding and to have patience. He said that everyone is in favor of increasing Wesleyan's prestige, but no person can do it alone. "The faculty cannot do it alone. The student body cannot do it alone. The Alumnae Association cannot do it alone. But . . . all combined, I tell you with all earnestness, we can win—we can do it and we must . . . provided we have the fortitude to stand up and be counted."

Following his address, Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association, called upon Kay (Bailey) Burts, member of the Board of Managers, to read the resolution passed the night before at a call meeting of all members of the Board of Managers, National officers, Alumnae Trustees, and past Alumnae Trustees. At the conclusion the entire audience gave a rising vote of confidence to Dr. Martin and the Trustees.

BACCALAUREATE SPEAKER

Rev. George Esmond Clary was speaker for the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 31, at the Mulberry Street Methodist Church. Mr. Clary is the District Superintendent of the Savannah District for the Methodist Church and is a Trustee for Wesleyan from the South Georgia Conference.

GRADUATION DAY

Dr. Goodrich C. White, president of Emory University and a Trustee of Wesleyan College, delivered the commencement address on Monday, June 1, at Pierce Chapel. Rev. E. J. Grimes of Camilla gave the opening prayer and later was permitted to award the diploma to his son, Thaddeus Stowe Grimes, Jr.

HONORS AND AWARDS

One graduate, Jan Gay, received the highest scholastic award, "summa cum laude," which means an all-A record for all four years of work. In addition, she is the first Wesleyan graduate to receive a Fulbright Scholarship before getting her diploma. She will study at the University of Toulouse in France beginning in September. Jan also received the Ross-Walker Award for written and spoken English and the WMAZ $100.00 award to be used for a first-hand study of T.V. and radio broadcasting in New York City.

There were nine Magna cum laude graduates as follows: Carolyn Blakely, Jane Cary Chapman, Geraldine Fain Dixon, Sally Higgins, Eugenia Trapp, Margaret Anne Rodgers, Elaine Wood Whitehurst, Mary Ann Fitzgerald, and Margaret Smith.

Cum laude graduates were: Helen Blackmarr, Caroline Eagerton, Ann Harrrell, Joann Patricia Hesser, Kathryn Elizabeth Jones, Elizabeth Barber McClure, Anne Claire McMaster, Mary Anne Meadows, Elsie Sutherland, Ann Walker, Jacqueline Lucia Ward, Merrilyn Nolen Welch, Kathryn Parsons Willis, Mary Kathleen Harper, Olive Wills Long, Sara Elizabeth Smith, Susan Jane Thigpen, Margaret Ann Whitley, Julianne Withers.

At a meeting of the officers of Phi Delta Phi honor society Sunday afternoon, Mary Ann Meadows, Geraldine Dixon, and Sally Higgins were initiated into the society. Jane Cary Chapman, Jan Gay, Eugenia Trapp and Carolyn Blakely were initiated into the society at the fall meeting last year. Mary Ann Fitzgerald, Margaret Smith and Elaine Wood Whitehurst were elected to Mu Alpha honor society.

1953 SENIOR DAUGHTERS OF ALUMNAE AND THEIR MOTHERS

Left to right, the girls and their mothers are: Anne Strozier and Anne (Smith) Strozier; Julia Withers and Julia (Osborne) Withers; Claire Houser and Emily (Anderson) Houser; Thaddeus Grimes, Jr., and Annie Lee (Cross) Grimes; Margaret Stephenson and Margaret (Budd) Stephenson; Mayson Thornton and Cornelia (Turner) Thornton; Dana Perry and Dannie (Marshall) Perry; Betty Banks Jarrell and Elizabeth (Banks) Jarrell.

(Not in the Picture were: Jerry Dixon daughter of the late Ona (Fain) Dixon; Carolyn Blakely, daughter of Bernice (Hurst) Blakely, and Joanne Williams, daughter of Valeria (Lamar) Williams.)

RECEIVERS OF THE ALUMNAE AWARDS FOR 1953

Left to right: Jennie (Loyall) Anderson, Rebecca (Caudill) Ayars, Lila May Chapman, Sara (Jenkins) Cunningham, Annabel Horn.

THE ALUMNAE AWARDS

For the fourth time on Alumnae Day, the Wesleyan Alumnae Association presented to certain outstanding alumnae the highest honor it could bestow for "Distinguished Service and Distinguished Achievement which reflects honor upon Wesleyan College." Six alumnae were so honored. This brings to twenty-eight the total number of alumnae receiving such awards.

Nominations and recommendations for award winners may be mailed into the Alumnae Office by any alumna during the year. These are turned over to a secret committee thirty days prior to the annual Alumnae Day program, and the committee recommends the winners to the Board of Managers who has the final vote as to who receives the Alumnae Service Awards and the Alumnae Achievement Awards. No one officially connected with the College or member of the Board of Managers is eligible for consideration.

Mary Pate, '48, read the 1953 citation as follows:

For distinguished service which reflects honor upon Wesleyan College, I present:

Jennie Loyall Anderson

A.B., from Wesleyan College in 1912; A.M., from George Washington University; who returned to her Alma Mater after a successful teaching career in 1924 to take charge of the first Alumnae Office at Wesleyan as the first full-time Executive Secretary; who initiated our alumnae work on a national scale; whose natural gift for organization, rare ability to inspire others to work for an ideal and to work in harmony, and sound judgment in selecting from all the ideas and methods used by alumni organizations throughout the nation those most lasting and best suited to Wesleyan, assured a firm foundation for the Wesleyan Alumnae Association; whose secret of success as an Alumnae Secretary lies in her deep and abiding love for the college which has been the motivating force of her life and the center of all her interests; whose interpretation of the work of an alumnae body is that it includes everything that concerns the welfare of the college; whose belief in Wesleyan's important place as an educational institution and a Christian influence in the world has never wavered and is entirely undaunted by any periods of stress through which the college passes; whose genius as an executive and initiator was responsible for many projects which have become traditional at Wesleyan and fruitful of great benefit to the institution, the Alumnae Loyalty Fund, the Alumnae Magazine, Dormitory Day, and many others; whose concern for her Alma Mater is so deeply ingrained that it will continue throughout her life and continue in its influence as long as Wesleyan lives.

For distinguished service which reflects honor upon Wesleyan College, I present:

Lila May Chapman

Bachelor of Arts of Wesleyan College in the class of 1890; graduate of the first class of the first school in the South for the training of librarians; pioneer in the successful establishment and growth of the Birmingham Public Library and for twenty-one years its director; unfailingly loyal member of Phi Mu; member of the Macon Art Association, and given national recognition by the Society of Arts and Sciences for her work in bringing to Birmingham many fine art collections; donor of a valuable collection of fans to the Wesleyan Library; Alumnae Trustee, 1933-1936; former National Alumnae treasurer and holder of many other offices in both the national and local alumnae organizations; unfailingly generous of her time and her substance in the dark days and the fair of her Alma Mater; beloved for her gentleness, her courtesy, and her efficiency; outstandingly active in every undertaking of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association, she spares no effort to further the memory of a glorious Wesleyan past, the accomplishment of a vital present, and the dream of an ever-enlarging Wesleyan future.

For distinguished service which reflects honor upon Wesleyan College, and for distinguished achievement which reflects honor upon Wesleyan College, I present:

Annabel Horn

Bachelor of Arts from Wesleyan College in 1906; Master of Arts from the University of Chicago; whose life-time interest in Greek and Latin literature and whose unique ability as a teacher and writer in this field have made her name nationally known as an authority in the classics; co-author with Harry Fletcher Scott of a series of Latin texts which have revolutionized the teaching of Latin in the public schools; traveler and research worker in Roman Britain, in Provence, and in Italy; outstanding teacher for many years in Atlanta High School for Girls; devoted alumna of Wesleyan, who, when she retired from her position with the Fulton County Schools returned to her Alma Mater to give eleven years of service to Wesleyan, first as Dean of the Conservatory where she was responsible for securing a distinguished faculty and maintaining standards of excellence unsurpassed by any Fine Arts School, then as Assistant to the President of the college, where her selfless devotion to every interest of the institution and her sound judgment on academic matters made her invaluable; holder of many high offices in the Alumnae Association, including that of national president from 1937 to 1940; Alumnae Trustee from 1934 to 1937; fountain of unfailing optimism where the future of her Alma Mater was concerned, even in the darkest days of its history; always ready, even since her retirement in February of this year, to throw her dynamic personality into any project for the good of the college she loves.

For distinguished achievement which reflects honor up on Wesleyan College, I present:

Rebecca Caudill Ayars

A.B., from Wesleyan College in 1920; M.A., from Vanderbilt University; former teacher at Colegio Bennett in Rio de Janeiro; former editor of "The Torch-bearer," Methodist publication for young people; author of six successful books for children and adolescents; ardent and effective worker for world peace, for harmonious race relations, for relief for suffering humanity in India and in every corner of the globe; consciously and actively devoted to everything which furthers the kingdom of God on earth; wholeheartedly interested in Wesleyan's welfare; tireless worker in the Wesleyan campaign for the discharge of Wesleyan's moral obligation on the bonded indebtedness; Alumnae Trustee from 1949 to 1952, during which time she was an articulate and influential member of the Board of Trustees, interpreting for that body the feeling of the Alumnae Association in every problem that arose during her term of office; whose keen insight and fearless approach to a situation sees it always "as in the eyes of God," and whose comprehension of the needs of Wesleyan and suggestions for ways to meet these needs have been a source of understanding and inspiration to the Association as a whole; whose active interest in her Alma Mater did not end with the expiration of her term as Trustee, but who continues to be a moving force among the alumnae; mother of a son and a daughter of college age; outstanding and beloved citizen of Urbana, Illinois, active in church and civic organizations.

For distinguished achievement which reflects honor upon Wesleyan College, I present:

Sara Jenkins Cunningham

Bachelor of Arts of Wesleyan College in the class of 1926; firmly rooted in the traditions of Methodism and of Wesleyan; born in Mexico, daughter of a Methodist missionary, and niece of five brother ministers, one of them a Wesleyan president; for twenty-five years teacher in Florida schools through whose classroom have passed more than five thousand students; beloved instructor of journalism to high school students; friend of the foreign-born through her night classes in English; member of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalistic fraternity, and nominee from her local chapter for Woman of the Year for 1952; active worker in the church through Sunday School teaching and through participation in Mission Study groups; prolific and successful author who has published seven books in five years, books which have provided vivid portrayals of the lives and problems of the clergy and of teachers in small Southern communities and which have brought pleasure to many readers.

Weeta (Watts) Mathews

Death Claims Award Winner May 31

Weeta (Watts) Mathews of Columbus, Ga., died only a day after receiving an alumnae award for "Distinguished Achievement which reflects honor upon Wesleyan College." She had been advised of this honor several weeks in advance, and her daughter, Mary Ann (Mathews) Pease, '44, had planned to attend the Alumnae Day program and accept the award for her mother. However, a telegram the morning of May 30 advised Mary Ann would not be able to leave her mother. Margaret (Cantrell) Isaacs, '33, received the award, representing the Columbus Alumnae Club.

For distinguished achievement which reflects honor upon Wesleyan College, I present:

Weeta Watts Mathews

Bachelor of Science of Wesleyan College in the class of 1919; president of Wesleyan student Y.W.C.A., and for two years executive secretary of the Colorado Springs Y.W.C.A., from which she gained inspiration for a consecrated life of Christian service; for twenty-five years a tireless worker and holder of high offices in the Woman's Society of Christian Service of her own St. Luke Methodist Church and of the South Georgia Conference; charter member of the City Board of Missions out of whose vision the Open Door Community House became a reality; through whose influence $50,000 was raised by Methodist women for enlarging the facilities of the Open Door Community House of which she has been president for seven of its fifteen years of existence; Sunday School teacher for twenty-five years; always a loyal daughter of Wesleyan, giving generously of her time and talents to her Alma Mater through the Columbus Alumnae Club which she served as president, and working zealously in the campaign to pay off the bonded indebtedness; faithful wife; devoted mother of a Wesleyan daughter and of a fine son; who by her beautiful example has enriched all whose lives have touched hers.

The Chenery Bequest

The many friends and alumnae of Wesleyan will be grieved to learn of the death on June 12 of Marion (Luse) Chenery, '85, in Boston, Mass., one of Wesleyan's great benefactors.

It was in 1944 that she and her husband, the late Dr. William E. Chenery, gave Wesleyan $100,000 for endowment to maintain a chair known as the William E. and Marion L. Chenery Professorship. Part of the income from the endowment has been used to aid students in voice, piano, or violin and is known as the "Marion Luse Chenery Scholarships in Music." Many an outstanding student has received her musical training at Wesleyan with this help.

Now comes this bequest made to Wesleyan by this alumna which reads as follows:

"To Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia, where I was a student, receiving the President's gold medal in music, the sum of One Thousand ($1,000) Dollars, the income of which shall be used for the purchase of one or more trophies for award to a member or members of the senior class for excellence in music — these awards to be known as 'The Marion Luse Chenery Prize'."

COLLEGE "BRIGHT INTERVALS" RECOUNTED BY GRADUATE

Wesleyan faculty members know how to "measure you against yourself" and through the good old-fashioned trait of accepting no inferior products, turn out resourceful students, Margaret Chapman of New York, member of the Silver Anniversary Class, told her classmates and other alumnae Friday night, May 29, in the Conservatory Library following the Reunion Dinner in the old Conservatory dining room.

Margaret's current job, that of director of the 150-odd Girl Scout publications in the United States, takes all the resourcefulness she has developed during her days at Wesleyan and in earlier scouting work. She is co-author of the current Girl Scout Handbook which has sold more than 2,000,000 copies, and author of the Established Camp Book.

She was introduced by her classmate, Marguerite (Matheson) Nichols of Ft. Myers, Fla., also a member of the Silver Anniversary Class. Margaret's talk, "Bright Intervals," a series of vignettes of college and working days, paid tribute to former faculty members of Wesleyan. There have been many requests to print Margaret's full speech, and we wish space permitted; however, we give you a portion of it below:

In here charming manner she began "I have an opportunity vouchsafed to few women—an unrestricted chance to reminisce with what my publishing friends call 'a captive audience' . . . In a truly sentimental style I have chosen the title for tonight from a speech I heard at Wesleyan some twenty-five years ago. The speaker was a Southern writer and he began by talking about the weather reports in the London newspapers. Day after day the papers would record 'fog and rain. Bright intervals.' 'Cloudy with rain. Bright intervals.' Day after day the same story, but always a promise of brief moments when the sun would come through to lift the spirits, to re-kindle hope, to remember tomorrow.

"Our college days were not days of fog and rain, but even in them there were certain bright moments, some sharply clear impressions that stand out so above the rest that they come back to me after twenty-five years.

"I should like to tell you about them for the effect they have had on me in the years that followed.

"The first happened in my Sophomore year under Miss Broome.

"We were surprised when we entered the classroom to see all of the blackboard covered with writing, and even more surprised when she told us that the only thing she wanted us to do that day was to copy the story from the board exactly as it was written. The accents, the capitalization, the spelling, the punctuation—and even the errors if there were any. Exactly. We were, most of us, in our fourth year of Spanish at that time and we thought that was a pretty stupid thing to be asked to do. Why, any idiot could copy. We sat there through the long silence feeling a little sorry for our teacher for having so little imagination. And then we finished and she had us swap papers and correct them as she read the story aloud to us. And this is where I learned my unforgettable lesson. Not one of us had completed that simple job without a mistake. We hadn't just left out commas; we had inserted words that weren't there, we had changed the meaning of sentences. In tribute to the teacher I'd like to add that she said very little about the moral to that lesson, but it has stayed with me all my life.

Margaret Chapman, '28, polishing speech

"When I went into publishing, more or less by the back door, that lesson was practically the only bit of knowledge I brought to the job. From the day a manuscript comes into our office until the day the last correction is transferred to the page proof and sent back to the printer we are aware of the tricks that can be played by that uncoordinated team—the human eye, the human hand, and the human brain!

"And there is another memory—a gentler memory—that I cherish. Do you remember Mr. Smith? I can see him now, standing before a group of students, holding a dull-looking rock in his hand, and trying to convey to our pedestrian minds some of the miracle of creation imprisoned in that ancient stone. I can see him standing by a cut bank half way between Rivoli and the city pointing out the clues buried in the bank that told him the ocean once covered the land at this point. As far as I am concerned the Piedmont Plateau and the Coastal Plain come together at just one point in the Eastern United States not far from Wesleyan and very near a little drugstore where Eskimo pies are sold. I think the Eskimo pies have something to do with the fact that my interest in the natural sciences did not die with the recording of my final grade in geology. Mr. Smith had a gift for combining the wonders of science with little human things, like buying Eskimo pies for his students on a field trip. I wish I could tell him now that the nickels he spent on Eskimo pies for at least one student were a good investment.

"Years later, when I was directing a camp, I remembered Mr. Smith and I tried to do for young children what he did for me . . . I tried to open their eyes to the wonders of the universe.

"And then there was Miss Garner. I remember so well my first encounter with Miss Garner. You might call it a head-on collision. I dashed off the first article assigned to me in her journalism class with the same gay abandon that had sufficed for my writing all through high school. Once a high school teacher had suggested that I could make an A on a paper if I would write it over, and I replied airily that a B would be all right. When Miss Garner read my first journalistic effort she didn't say a word about a grade. She just looked me in the eye and said she'd have none of it. It wasn't the best I could do and therefore it was not acceptable to her. I was furious at first. I went back to my room in a pet and tackled the despised job. And as I wrote again I began to enjoy it. I was putting something into it that I had never tried to put in before—the best effort that I could produce. At least, I thought it was the best effort, but over the three years she worked on me, I learned that there sometimes remains room for improvement after the fourth try—and if she felt that to be true, I went for the fifth try. I honestly believe that Miss Garner had that gift that means the difference between a good teacher and a poor one. She really knew how to measure you against yourself and she combined with that a sturdy old-fashioned trait. She accepted no inferior products.

"When I went into Girl Scout professional work because I liked children and camping, I certainly did not expect to wind up writing Girl Scout books or—worse still—supervising their editing and production. But when I drifted into a writing job, Miss Garner came along with me. When a manuscript was finally ready for the editor's hand there were a hundred pages in the trash basket for every ten I had the nerve to submit. I wish Columbia University or NYU had a Miss Garner that we could attach to the Girl Scouts on a retaining fee—to goad the writers, to teach the editors how to reject a manuscript and make the author feel flattered by the rejection.

"The fourth vignette is not about a teacher. At least she was not listed as such on the college pay roll. But there are many teachers without portfolio, and Miss Carnes is one of those. About half of that so-called liberal education Wesleyan gave me was contributed by Miss Carnes as I worked with her in the library.

"Miss Carnes had a gift for acting helpless at times, stepping back to make room for me to step forward. It was years after I left Wesleyan that I discovered that Miss Carnes was applying one of the basic principles of supervision on me by making me stand on my own feet. She even went so far as to go away for a whole year and leave me holding the library bag, and then she sent me out in the world to see whether I had learned my lesson well.

"The fifth and last vignette I'd like to show you is of Mr. Daniel. Do you remember the way he had the blackboard scored off in sections and at the top of each section the number of a century? And that little game he loved to play where each student drew a slip with the name of an event or a person written on it, and you were supposed to go to the board and enter the one you drew in its proper century? I remember I seemed always to draw a slip with "The Hegira" written on it. I never seemed to be able to remember what it was, let alone where it belonged in time. But I liked the game, and have used it in many variations with children on far different subjects.

"But it is not this game that made the greatest impression on me. It was, rather, the way he had his students read the daily paper and the current magazines and see if they could relate what they read in today's news with something that had happened in history. I may not remember the dates of the Hegira but I am always aware of the thought lying beneath his game of associations. No event stands alone. What happened yesterday is related to today; what happens tomorrow depends to a large degree on what we do today.

"Perhaps Mr. Daniel is the reason I went into Girl Scout work. He must have kindled a fire that made me want to have a hand in tomorrow's world, and working with young people in a program that focuses on building attitudes seemed one way. If you are active in the Girl Scouts you will know what I mean by that. If you are not, you may wonder that I speak of attitudes as the focus. The Girl Scouts, you thought, are busy learning skills and earning badges and just having fun. I hope they are having fun—learning comes more easily than that way, as did my geology buttered by an Eskimo pie. But the attitudes, like the vignettes of my college days are the concomitant learnings that sometimes stick longer than the technical information they ride along on.

"But this speech is not designed to sell the Girl Scouts to you or you to the Girl Scouts. (But if you want a bargain, speak to me after this meeting.) It is designed to remind you of a very few, simple things that you already know. And it is for those of you who are teachers, and those who are mothers, and those who are sitting in the enviable position of aunt or grandmother—who can often do things for young people that parents cannot do.

"I want to make a plea to you on behalf of children and young people. They need so much from us—so much more than the clothes they wear and the food they eat and the television sets we provide at great financial (and other) sacrifice. They need an education rich in concomitant learnings. They need to be around people who expect them to do the best they are able to do, as Miss Garner did; who make them aware of the effect of one life and one age upon another as Mr. Daniel did; teach them to guard against human frailty, as Miss Broome did; who make their learnings a pleasant experience as Mr. Smith did; who encourage them to tackle a job that is hard to do and allow them to do it for themselves, as Miss Carnes did. They need to live in an open environment where a man is judged for himself alone—and that is sometimes the hardest of all to give them, because our own emotions get in the way.

"And if you cherish the bright intervals of your life, as I do, there is no better way to store up a fine collection of them than through working with young people."

Golden Jubilee Anniversary

By Bessie (Houser) Nunn

The Class of 1903 with 43 graduates was represented by 3 at the 1953 Commencement at Wesleyan College. The "Big 3" were: Nettie (Matthews) Head, Macon; Annie Lou (Lovett) Fletcher, Jackson; Bessie (Houser) Nunn, Perry. Three seemed a lot more than two, and we were thankful for these three to sit on the stage together at this historic commencement occasion in the grand old chapel at Wesleyan.

At the luncheon at Rivoli, the first table in the dining room featured 1903 in gold and white marker. You could not guess what group helped us complete our table for ten. The class of 1892, with more girls than we had, observing their 61st anniversary. Their hilarity and sparkling wit kept us young-feeling and added much to our day.

Some greetings in form of cards and letters had been received, and as these were read classmates seemed close about us to share this occasion with us.

These were from: Lucy Lester, our class president, visiting in Norfolk, Virginia; Kathryn (Dean) Lee, in hospital at Alexander City, Ala.; Laura (Dean) Thomas, Oklahoma City; Mary Gordy, Columbus, Ga.; Berta Smith, Atlanta; Mozelle (Harris) Jackson, Albertville, Ala.; Frances (Nunnally) Napier, Monroe, Ga.; Lalia (Whiting) Brown, Fort Valley, Ga. Letters from Mary (Tarbutton) Freeman, Los Angeles and Seaton (Taylor) Purdom, Atlanta, were received late because of sickness. Each expressed the wish that she could be present and renew friendships of those happy days.

A Golden Anniversary Gift was begun, and is being increased by voluntary gifts. It is a class gift and we are not listing the individual givers, but trust it may reach fifty dollars during the year 1953.

Reunion of 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914

Well in advance of May 30th, the red-letter Alumnae Day at Wesleyan, members of the classes '11, '12, '13, and '14 received special invitations to a party that was held in the pergola of the lovely home of Jennie (Loyall) Anderson, '12, with the Macon alumnae of these sister classes as co-hostesses. After the Reunion dinner in the dining room of Old Wesleyan and the informal business meeting of the alumnae with the talk by Margaret Chapman, Alice (Domingos) Evans, '12, saw that we all had rides out Vineville Avenue. When we came together the following were present: Mary (Morgan) Barber, Katharine Carnes, Rosalie (Mallary) Willingham, Frances (Davenport) Hudson, Stella (Roberts) Pendleton, Marie (Adams) Timmerman, Ruth (Radford) Launius, Alberto (Denton) Marshall, Martha (Howard) Balkcom, Annie (Gantt) Anderson, Maude (Stubbs) Stubb, Lucile (Trammell) Shi, Reba (Moore) Standifer, Ollie (Barmore) Kincaid, Helen (Cater) Farmer, Louise (Willis) Cater, Annie (Miller) Lyndon, Evelyn (Estes) Somerville, Camilla (Pharr) Barnett, Martha (Riley) Holliday, Bessie (Stubbs) Harden, Alice (Domingos) Evans, Wilma Orr, Elizabeth (Solomon) Smith, Alleen (Poer) Hinton, Lillian Battle, Gladys Alice Sheppard, Emma (Drew) Clay, and Cornelia (Adams) Heath.

Seeing old friends was wonderful, and hearing from those who could not make it for this reunion was next best to seeing them. Reba (Moore) Standifer had recently been to Athens, Tenn., to visit her daughter, Sadie (Standifer) Davis, and to see her granddaughter.

Wilma Orr from Fort Valley wrote beforehand that "some of us may have gray hair, but our hearts are still young and full of enthusiasm," a sentiment that all of us echoed.

Camilla (Pharr) Barnett got a half day off from school in Washington, Georgia, and she and Gladys Sheppard, '14, who lives in nearby Elberton, drove over together. Camilla is school librarian, anticipating pranks by her own experiences, according to her reports. She has built her own home since her father's death.

Ruth (Calhoun) Shackleford of Atlanta and Winifred (Tumlin) Smith of Thomaston did not make it for the party Friday night but came over for the meeting and the luncheon on Saturday. Schools commencements prevented several of our teachers from being with us for that reason.

Ruth (Dix) Whigham could not come over from Rutherford, Ala., and activities

(Continued on page 11)

Members of the Silver Anniversary Class taken after the Alumnae Luncheon. Left to right, first row: Julia (Thompson) Camp, Mozelle (Fuller) Williams, Marguerite (Matheson) Nichols, Dolores (Jackson) Davis, Elizabeth (Lipham) Jones, Margaret Chapman, Carroll (Boyd) McLean, Ruth (Kasey) Yost, and Anne (Hoyle) Upchurch. Second row: Josephine (Bedingfield) Abney, Margaret (Otto) Lamb, Kathryn Lawton, Dorothy (Blackmon) Kersh, Annie Lou (Thrasher) Thomas, Virginia (Banks) St. John, Marion (Arnold) Roberts, Kathleen Mackay, Carolyn (Lockett) Carter, Olivia (McCarty) Gaines, Dorothy (Spearman) Chambers, Mary Edna (Dowling) Leonardi.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of the Class of 1928

By Katherine (Armstrong) Bivins

At the thought of our "Silver Anniversary" we stopped short in our busy lives and hurriedly computed — "1928 to 1953 — yes, that is twenty-five years. I must be getting old!" So, practically with a limp, we approached the celebration.

But if the thought of the passing of twenty-five full years made us feel our age, the actual events of the occasion brought about an almost mystical rejuvenation. We were all rather astonished at how young and enthusiastic our classmates were. Someone quoted a student (and what music to our ears — these comments from the younger generation!) as saying, "If I felt that I could look as young and be as vivacious as the Silver Anniversary class when I've been out of college twenty-five years, then I'd be perfectly happy!"

Such remarks of course pleased us, but a more and much deeper pleasure came from the actual fellowship with our own contemporaries. We found each other charming and somehow invigorating. It was amazing how each one could sum up in a few sentences the major events of twenty-five years — necessarily brief, but every word significant. "Reading between the lines" became at once a fascinating mental game. As you listened to your friend you soon could picture her in her home, her office, her schoolroom, her church; you could visualize her children and you felt pride, too, in them; you rejoiced because of the joys she had known and you wept inwardly to know of her sorrows. Yes, it touched us deeply — this fellowship of the oneness of background and the intriguing discovery of much still in common despite the separation in time and space.

Twenty-eight of our class returned for this Silver Anniversary and twelve others sent notes of regret. Everyone was recalled by those present at one time or another. The highlight of the dormitory stay of some of our class was the perusal of the Veterropt of 1928. Those who stayed overnight at the College reported a most happy time, a real spend-the-night party — reminiscing and giggling into the early hours of morn like the school girls they were a quarter of a century ago!

The dinner for all reunion classes at the Conservatory filled the old dining-hall with eager alumnae. It was a gay and happy occasion. The familiar halls of our Alma Mater breathed a benediction on each one; made the past more rosy and the future somehow more meaningful. The luncheon at the College on Saturday brought several who had come just for the day. We chatted informally and felt more and more a part of the "new campus." The tea given Saturday afternoon by the "Town Girls of '28," at the home of Margaret (Otto) Lamb emphasized our beloved colors, the green and gold of our class and the lavender and purple of the college.

We felt especially proud that one of our own had been chosen as the speaker for the alumnae meeting immediately following the dinner at the Conservatory on Friday night — Margaret Chapman, at the top in National Girl Scout work. She was presented by Marguerite (Matheson) Nichols of our class and spoke to us in a most charming manner, out of her years of experience in working with young people.

We were glad to be represented among those who made a contribution to the college at the meeting on Saturday morning. Ruth Kasey Yost had been charged with the responsibility of soliciting her classmates for contributions, and she presented our gift for the class to Dr. Martin.

In addition to the alumnae already mentioned we want to list the "girls" who were present and those who sent notes. Elizabeth (Lipham) Jones, Olivia (McCarthy) Gaines, and Dorothy (Blackmon) Kersh came together from Dalton. Dolores (Jackson) Davis, Kathryn Lawton, Carolyn (Lockette) Carter and Dorothy (Spearman) Chambers were on hand for most of the festivities. Anne (Hoyle) Upchurch was the house-guest of Enna Morris. Marian (Arnall) Roberts and Virginia (Banks) St. John drove down together from Newnan. Carroll (Boyd) McLean was here from Florida and Mary Edna (Dowling) Leonardi from South Carolina. Annie (Mays) Laramore, Mozelle (Fuller) Williams, and Kathleen Mackay came from Atlanta. Roberta (Jones) Gardner, Addie Funderburke, Salome (Anderson) Farrar, Katherine (Armstrong) Bivins, Gladys (Meyer) Waters, and Blythe McKay were on hand to help play hostess as "Town Girls".

The following of our class sent notes of regret: Elizabeth (Bittle) Baker, Brownie (Small) Paden, Pauline (Spratling) Merritt, Adylein (Ewing) Blake, Mary Nell (Wiley) Strozier, Carolyn (Manget) Kirby, Sara Lee (Edwards) Whatley, Lucille (Lyon) Callaway, Elizabeth (Carter) Overby, Katherine (Rountree) Christian, Elizabeth (Armstrong) Stevens, Virginia (Cooper) Sims. These notes were passed around at the tea, and gave us all real pleasure.

It is a definite temptation to add to the list of those mentioned a brief sketch of each one giving each bit of news gleaned, however, it is not practical at this time. So, suffice it to say, "Our Silver Anniversary was a success at the time and will always be a joy forever in our hearts!" As one of our class advised a friend, "If you ever have the opportunity to attend the Silver Anniversary of your class, don't miss it. It will be worth any effort. It will do things for you!"

First Reunion For Class of '32

After 21 years we girls could not resist the temptation to return to Rivoli. After all, weren't we the first class to go all four years on the new campus? Hadn't we been cheated out of our first planned reunion by the war? Were they trying to keep us away forever? We just decided to show them and we did. The class of 1932 had girls returning from as far away as New Mexico (Mary Mullis), Arlington, Va. (Roberta Cason Cox), Jackson, Miss. (Jenny Townsend Munford), Durham, N. C. (Bay Duvall Smith), and Cheraw, C. S. (Bo Wannamaker Watts).

The weekend was perfectly planned with just enough business sandwiched in between the pleasure to make everyone of us feel pleasantly important. The choice of a speaker for Friday evening at the Conservatory was a happy one; the meals were delicious and attractively served; the arrangement for allocating rooms worked without a hitch; and the girls who led us about were so cordial and enthusiastic it made us feel cheerful over the future of Wesleyan to know it is attracting such students.

But the grand finale came when we gathered en masse Saturday afternoon at the home of Malene (Lee) Morgan in Macon. The morale of about 25 Wesleyannes was boosted sky high after the shock of realizing we could recognize each other! Why, we even recognized Malene after all she had gone through getting ready for the big weekend!!

Twenty of us signed her lovely, hand-painted guest book, as follows: Dot Simmons, Russ Brinson, Ida (Smith) Bentley, Lula (Calhoun) Vinson, Mary Lee (Wimberly) Coleman, Frances (Knott) Smith, Louise (Pittman) Peabody, Mary (Felton) Paulk, Mary Mullis, Margaret (Hester) Campbell, Maude (Hardwick) McIver, Estelle "Donnie" (Anderson) Crouch, Virginia (Townsend) Munford, Martha (Benns) Reeves, Lois (Daniel) Brandon, Virginia (Shippey) Jones, Martha (Dimon) Holmes, Bay (Duvall) Smith, Bo (Wannamaker) Watts, and Roberta (Cason) Cox.

Sara (Hammock) Middlebrooks, Estelle (King) Collar, Lois (McDonald) Jorgensen, were at reunion but could not stay for the party Saturday afternoon.

Telegrams were received from Marjorie Watson and Ruth (Ray) Gleaton, and a long epistle from the American Embassy, La Paz, Bolivia, written by Carolyn ("Wootie" Lowe) Bridgett, bemoaning the fact she was too far away to come. She wrote: "We were in the States on leave last year and on my way back to New York from Marshallville, I pressed my nose against the train window and got a fleeting glimpse of the campus. It looked lovely and much more 'settled' than when I was there."

Some '32 girls back for Reunion

It was wonderful being together and surprising how the years seemed to slip away. We were just as we had been when as green, homesick freshmen we first set foot on the wide-expanses of the new Rivoli campus. We had come back home and we hope to return again for our 25th and silver anniversary four years hence.

Reunion of Rivoli '33

By Carolyn (Lawton) Harrell

One dear old lady, who graduated nearly fifty years ago, spoke to one of the members of the class of '33 and said, "Are you a senior, dear?"

Another member of the class of '33, making pleasant conversation with a nice-looking shirt sleeved gentleman asked, "Do you work at Wesleyan?" He does. He was the president.

So, you see, in spite of the passing of twenty years since our graduation, we '33-ers still have the youthful looks of a senior, and the naive spirit of a freshman!

Those few hours at Wesleyan were a wonderful get-together for the 26 members of our class who returned. From the moment we began to congregate at the Conservatory Friday night (when with shouts of recognition and whoops of delight we fell on each others necks) to the delightful little party at Nancy (Whitaker) Young's Saturday afternoon, we were Wesleyannes again. Of course, the big events of the alumnae weekend — the dinner at the Conservatory, the thought-provoking and well-integrated talk that Margaret Chapman made at the meeting afterwards, the induction service Saturday morning at which we heard our new president for the first time, the delicious luncheon at the college — were all challenging, inspiring, and enjoyable.

But it was the little things that made the years drop away, and made us feel truly that the passing of time didn't mean much; we were all Wesleyan girls together again. We gathered in a dormitory parlor and giggled like Sophomores far into the night Friday night. We brought each other up to date on our careers, our husbands, our children, and we all decided that we'd done right well by them. We even called the class roll and got a report on everybody who was absent. Elizabeth (Vorhauer) Vernon sent a wire from Florida to say how much she wanted to be with us. Those of us who have careers had really made good names for ourselves in them. Those who had husbands and children were taking good care of them, from all reports. Those of us who were combining careers and home-making were, amazingly, combining the two quite well.

Among the careerists were Bernice Sikes, Carolyn Roth, Ida Young, Julia Smith and Wilhelmina Dougherty. Bernice is one of the valued employees in a Macon real estate firm. Carolyn, who received her Master's from Ann Arbor in 1950 and has just returned from a trip to Nassau, is Serologist (I had her spell it for me so I know that's right!) for the State of Florida. She keeps tab on more than 150 laboratories in the State. Ida Young is a successful teacher in Macon — and yet finds time to write and to help in the alumnae office. Her History of Macon has been accepted as the official history of the city. Julia Smith is court clerk in her home town of Eastman, and Wilhelmina Dougherty is in the personnel office of Georgia Tech in Atlanta.

Edith (Tarver) Wallenburg has the most children — five in all. The oldest is fourteen; the baby one and a half. Margaret (Budd) Stephenson has the oldest child. Her daughter was in the graduating class this year. Carolyn (Lawton) Harrell has the first child to be married — on July 24th. Katherine (Snooks) Walker has the youngest — a boy a year old. The rest of us: Mary (Griffin) Smith; Frances (Justi) Best; Caroline (Radford) Brooks; Hortense (Tyre) Jenkins; Margaret (Murphy) Martin; Lucille (Wallace) Nuckles; Dorothy (Lombard) Singletary; Margaret (Burch) Patrick; Ruth (Fulwood) Wright; Claudine (Walton) Mays; Floy (Simpson) Holloman; Frank (Shumate) Denton; Chris (Quilliam) Searcy; Margaret (Cantrell) Isaacs, Mary (Rudisill) Trippe; Dot (Manget) Hogan; Pete (Highsmith) Ware; and Nancy (Whitaker) Young have one or two or three each.

Much to our dismay, we discovered that there were few future Wesleyannes among the children, and the class of '33 has 'em — we counted 48 just from mamas present. The majority of the progeny are boys.

There was much talk in the air Saturday afternoon at parting time of coming again for the 25th reunion five years from now. We had a glorious reunion in 1953. There is no doubt that there will be an even better one in 1958.

Reunion of '33 Conservatory

By Elsie (Lowden) Maxwell

It was a hot afternoon, that last Saturday in May, but to those of us in the Conservatory class of 1933, gathered at the home of Evelyn (Thaxton) Thrasher, the heat was of no consequence. Here we were after twenty years, together again, and having the time of our lives.

There were seventeen of us, including several of our beloved faculty members, some of whom we had not seen even once in all those years! The nice thing was that we could actually recognize each other.

From out of town came Sara Bess (Renfroe) Megahee, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Miriam (Trimble) Rhyne, College Park; Aldora (Hudson) Turner, Atlanta; "Beppy" (Good) Schilling, Augusta; Miriam (Cook) Walls, Sandersville, '34; Addie (Fincher) Crouch, Griffin, '35; Leila (Avera) Harris, Roberta. From Macon, Emily (Dozier) Knott, Mildred (Goodrum) Heywood, Mary Holmes, Juanita (Stokes) Black, Evelyn (Thaxton) Thrasher, and Elsie (Lowden) Maxwell.

The faculty members present were Miss Lin, Mrs. Comer (who always has more fun than anybody), Mrs. R. L. Wiggins, and even Dr. Wiggins dropped in on us.

Of course, the chatter was incessant as we talked of our husbands, children, activities, etc., and recalled and laughed over incidents that occurred way back when. I believe Miss Lin even found out who rolled the waste baskets down those Conservatory stairs a certain night many years ago!

The party itself, on Evelyn's beautiful porch overlooking the woods, was delightful. The refreshments carried out the colors of lavender and purple even to the dark purple cherries frozen in the ice cubes for the punch and in the flowers on the iced salad and angel food cakes. Beautiful flowers were in abundance throughout the home and altogether it was an occasion that will not soon be forgotten.

You missed a treat, gals of '33, who were not there; and we missed all of you too.

'11, '12, '13, '14

(Continued from page 8)

of a slightly different sort — Bible school — kept Emma (Gaillard) Boyce at home in Baldwyn, Miss. A piano recital of some of the students of Ruth (Macon) Wells of Summertown, Ga., made us miss her.

Ves Parker of Florida, has written for several years, "When will 1912 have a reunion? I can scarcely wait." We expected her enthusiastic presence, but our former star athlete was on crutches from a fall that has had her crippled for months. However, she was enjoying "the children's" children, June's four, who live with her, and Vivian, Jr.'s, two, who were visiting her. She sends this message, "Many of my college-mates, I'm sure, vacation in Florida. Tell them not to bypass 427 W. Hickory St., in Arcadia."

From Harrisburg, Pa., came word from Petrona (Humber) Hean who was taking over her new duties of Regent of the local chapter of the D.A.R. and helping her daughter, Elizabeth (Hean) Stone, '48, off on a West Indies-South American cruise with her husband.

Martha (King) Johnson, who has been living alone in Waycross since the death of her physician husband two years ago, was enjoying a visit from Helen (Bramham) Hampton, '14, who was en route home from Brunswick. Martha's only child, Raymond, Jr., is in business in Richmond, Va.

Ollie (Barmore) Kincaid enjoys her work in the library of the Extension Division of the University of Georgia in Atlanta with its thousand young people whom she admires, and from whom she renews her happy outlook. A reunioner of one of the 1930 group said "I met and enjoyed the cutest lady, a Mrs. Kincaid."

A reunion-within-a-reunion was that of our two sister alumnae, Maud (Stubbs) Stulb of New Orleans who visited her sister in Macon, Bessie (Stubbs) Harden, for commencement.

A special letter from Lucile (Ray) Lawton on Friday morning when Emma (Drew) Clay and Martha (Howard) Balkcom were arranging party flowers stopped all work while everyone expressed disappointment that Lucile's plans to come fell through at the last.

The message from Eloise (Walker) English from Naples, Italy, brought greetings from the greatest distance. Eloise was visiting her daughter and her husband, Commander Davies on duty in Naples. She had enjoyed a 3,000 mile auto tour of central Europe. Eloise maintains her home in Washington so that her children and seven grandchildren can come visit her.

Walter (Tilley) Pierce wrote, "I wish so much — yes, with all my heart, — that I could see and be with all of you at these meetings, but I have been ill for over a year." Tilley keeps in touch by writing class loyalty fund letters.

Emma (Drew) Clay, '14, heard from Helen White of Flora, Ala., and from Susie Brown, both, '14. Helen wrote: "All these years I have been hoping to attend our reunion when the great event came. Now I cannot. Genivieve lives in Montgomery, and her son is graduating from the University of Alabama, June 1st. Mother is past 85 and active for her years."

Susie was taking full charge of the library for the summer and could not leave DeLand. She wrote that she "devours every number of the alumnae magazine the minute it comes, and appreciates it very much."

Two Wesleyannes Receive Fulbright Scholarships

Jan Gay of Register, Ga., who received the Bachelor of Arts degree summa cum laude on June 1 and who majored in radio and speech, was notified before receiving her diploma that she had won a Fulbright Scholarship for a year's study at the University of Toulouse, France.

Evelyn McGarrity of Savannah, B.M., 1948, was notified in May that she was awarded a Fulbright Scholarship to study a year in Italy. Evelyn charmed her many Macon friends with her beautiful contralto voice when she visited here in June. She says she is looking forward to being in Europe amidst a different culture this next year, after her interesting experiences studying at Curtis Institute in Philadelphia immediately following her graduation and singing as soloist for two years in New York with Robert Shaw Chorale on tour and in Carnegie Hall recitals. The grand climax with them came she said, when she was featured soloist at the American premier of the Poulenc "Stabat Mater" in Carnegie Hall.

This last year Evelyn states she has been doing some much needed studying preparing to go to Europe. She also sang for a week at the Conference on Missions held at Buck Hill Falls, Pa. As a result of this, the Women's Division of the Methodist Church have sponsored a recording of her songs heard during this Conference. This long playing record of great religious songs sung by Evelyn McGarrity and recorded by RCA Victor under the sponsorship of the Women's Division of the Methodist Church will be released sometime this fall and will be on sale through the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church at 150 Fifth Ave., New York.

Additions to the Campbell Art Collection

The Campbell Art Collection, which has grown steadily through the inspired and untiring efforts of Helena Eastman (Ogden) Campbell, '97, to the sum total of 140 items, received shortly before Commencement three oil paintings, one original etching, one piece of statuary, and four lithograph prints. We are proud of these artists on our list of outstanding contributors and want to give you below some information pertaining to them and their work.

Eliot Clark, corresponding secretary of the National Academy of Design in New York, gave Wesleyan an oil painting entitled "Old Mill Road." Mr. Clark is a former president of the American Water Color Society and past president of the Allied Artists of America. He writes the Alumnae Office, "As my wife is a Virginian and as I have travelled, lectured and painted much in the South, it is additionally sympathetic to me to be represented in the Museum of Wesleyan College."

Luigi Lucioni of New York City gave Wesleyan an original etching entitled "On the Road." Mr. Lucioni is represented with etchings in the Library of Congress, the Whitney Museum and the New York Public Library among many other lesser known galleries.

Anna Hyatt Huntingdon of Bethel, Conn., gave a piece of statuary made from aluminum entitled "An Old Horse Feeding."

Gordon Grant of New York City sent the collection four lithograph prints entitled "Winter Harbor," "Down Sandy Hook Way," "Lumber Dock," and "Reflections."

Maria Boveri Cantarella of Bronx, N.Y., gave Wesleyan an oil painting entitled "The Broken Jug." Mrs. Cantarella is a member of the Aubudon Artists, Knickerbocker Artists, Artists Professional League, Pen and Brush Club, and National Association of Women Artists. She has received many awards, the most recent being first prize, 1952, Pen and Brush, and Margaret Arlen Prize, 1952, National Association Women Artists; and she has just completed a solo showing of 16 pieces at the Pen and Brush Club.

Robert Nisbet's landscape in oil, entitled "Morning Light," has been presented to Wesleyan's collection by the National Academy of Design who administers the Ranger Fund through which the painting was given. Mr. Ranger bequeathed his estate to the National Academy of Design, and the income is used to purchase paintings by Americans, which are given American art museums. It was through the influence of Helena Eastman (Ogden) Campbell and Eliot Clark, corresponding secretary of the Academy, that this gift was made to Wesleyan's art collection.

WESLEYAN CLUB NEWS

ATLANTA CLUB

At the last meeting of the year on May 20 at the Atlanta Historical Society, Katharine Carnes, '12, Librarian, was the guest speaker and was honored afterwards with a tea.

Katharine Carnes

During the business meeting presided over by Irene (Brewer) Brewer, president, the new officers for the next two years were elected as follows: president, Mary (Rudisill) Tripp, '33; first vice-president, Nonie (Acree) Quillian, '09; second vice-president, Sue (Lott) Clark, '46; third vice-president, Robertine (Belcher) Skipper, '25; recording secretary, Mary Jean (Chapman) Paris, '34; corresponding secretary, Mildred (Gower) Sims, '27; treasurer, Susan Leonard, '09; registrar, Julia (Osborne) Withers, '18; auditor, Jane (Epps) Henry, '47; parliamentarian, Rosaline (Jenkins) Gilmore, '18.

JACKSONVILLE CLUB

The April meeting of the Wesleyan Alumnae Club was a tea for high school graduates at the home of Mattie Beulah (McMath) White, '19.

Some of the Wesleyannes attending were Sara (Hammock) Middlebrooks, '32, Annette (White) King, '31, Dorothy (Redwine) Black, '30, Gladys (Leavitt) Prior, '32, and Anita (Morgan) Board, '15.

Wesleyan Teacher Gets Fellowship

Miss Virginia Carlton, professor of Mathematics and head of the department at Wesleyan College since 1950, was notified before school closed that she had been granted a Ford Foundation Fellowship for the school year 1953-54.

A summa cum laude graduate of Centenary College, Shreveport, La., Miss Carlton received the M.A. degree from Tulane University and has studied several summers at both Northwestern University and the University of Chicago. She will use the Ford Foundation grant for study at Northwestern.

Former Professor And Wife Celebrate Golden Wedding

Dr. Marvin C. Quillian, retired, former head of the biology department at Wesleyan for 37 years, and his wife, Carrie L. (Brown) Quillian, who studied voice here in 1924, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on June 16 by renewing their vows in a second marriage ceremony held in the new chapel of the First Methodist Church in Austin, Texas. A wedding reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony.

Son of Former President Dies

William Dodd Anderson, son of the late Dr. Dice R. Anderson, former president of Wesleyan, died June 26 in Macon where he had made his home for 25 years.

"Billy," as he was known to many Wesleyannes, was a teacher in Lanier High School. He is survived by a brother, Dice R. Anderson, Jr., of Atlanta, and his step-mother, Mrs. Dice R. Anderson, Dallas, Texas.

Former Wesleyan House Mother Dies

Mrs. Annie B. Powell, who was house mother at Wesleyan College from 1912-1916, died in Mobile, Ala., on March 14, at the age of eighty-one.

Her daughter, Annie Pet (Powell) Bell, was graduated from Wesleyan in 1916. Her granddaughter, Emily Bell, B.F.A. '46, teaches in the School of Speech, Mobile, Ala.

Mrs. Powell was born in Georgetown, Ga., and was graduated from Andrew College.

THE ATLANTA CLUB'S GROUP VI

Report On Years's Activities

The Atlanta Alumnae Group VI, with Jane (Epps) Henry, '47, as president has had a wonderful year of varied and interesting meetings.

One of the highlights of the year was a refreshing visit with Eunice Thompson. She enthusiastically told us of her studies at Emory and graciously answered our many questions about Wesleyan.

The meetings in the homes brought outside speakers on decorating, art, and other timely subjects interesting to career girls and homemakers.

One of the most entertaining meetings was held at the home of Elizabeth Elyea with 45 girls present. This program was an old-fashioned style show, and the girls modeled many old and exquisite dresses dating from the beginning of Wesleyan to the present.

Rosalyn (Atkinson) Harden
1840 gown

Betty Jo (Hogan) Cook, '48, fashion director at Rich's, announced the models.

Rosalyn (Atkinson) Harden, '49, began the modeling by wearing a delicately designed night gown that belonged to the first-honor graduate of Wesleyan College. Jean Walker, '49, and Bess Bledsoe, '46, were stunning in the daring styles worn at the turn of the century. Marjorie

Faith Munford, '49
The Style of 1870

Perkins, '51, Emily Mallet, '49, and Ann Purvis, '51, won applause in their modeling of the roaring twenty's. Kate (Haywood) Robinson, '49, Jean Walker, and Charlotte Little, '49, in their black silk stockings, uneven hem-lines, dusters, and high-crowned hats brought down the house with laughter and giggles. Peggy Ann Panghorn, '47, ended the show by wearing a smart suit and stole, that is often seen on Peachtree today.

It's fun to be a Wesleyanne!

Marjorie Perkins, '51, Emily Mallet,
'49, Ann Purvis, '51
The daring twenties

AUGUSTA CLUB

The Augusta Alumnae Club has elected the following officers to serve for 1953-54:

President, Eugenia (Hutto) Howard; vice-president, Eugenia Toole; treasurer, Rosaline (Allison) Burns; recording secretary, Elizabeth Jones; corresponding secretary, Louisa (Willingham) Williams; chaplain, Modena (McPherson) Rudisell.

On June 28 Dr. B. Joseph Martin, president of Wesleyan, was guest speaker at the St. Johns Methodist Church. Dr. and Mrs. Martin were afterwards luncheon guests of Lilly (Lake) Stephenson, outgoing Club president, and her husband.

COLUMBUS CLUB

Louise (Smith) Walker, '52, was elected president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Club at the closing program tea which was held May 24 in the parlors of St. Luke Methodist Church. Louise succeeds Martha (Zachry) Thwaite, '39.

The other officers elected to serve with her were: Rose (King) Boone, '52, vice president; Margaret (Cantrell) Isaacs, '33, secretary; Louise (Holoway) Waldron, '50, treasurer; and Virginia (Scott) Estes, '37, publicity director.

At the brief business session Martha (Zachry) Thwaite read the annual report of the club's activities. Margaret (Cantrell) Isaacs represented the Club at the Commencement May 29-June 1.

Continuing the theme of the program for the year, "Travel Through Europe," a program on European music was given by John Tremaine, minister of music of St. Luke Church, accompanied by Mrs. James Jenkins, pianist.

OTHER PARTIES
FOR REUNIONERS

Saturday afternoon, May 30.

Informal Tea . . . Class of 1930
Place: Home of Heneln (Ross) Dennis,
163 Rogers Ave.

Informal Party . . . Class of 1931
Place: Home of Dot (Dannenberg) Greenwald,
Stanislaus Circle

Coke Party—Conservatory Girls—1950
Place: Home of Fran (Allison) Morgan,
Nancelon Circle

Co-Hostesses: Dana (Bedgood) Jones and Anndine (Richardson) Bennett

Tomorrow's Alumnae . . .

a Column about Wesleyan's Students

During the Spring semester the students to head the various campus organizations were elected for 1953-54.

On the Hill

Jeannice Hammond will serve as president of the Student Government Association. Jeannice is a music education major from West Palm Beach, Fla.

Mary Gassert was named president of the Athletic Association. She is a radio major from Griffin.

Helen Long of Milledgeville will head the Student Christian Association. A piano major, Helen has been Glee Club accompanist.

Social chairman is Mary Katherine Kientz of West Palm Beach, Fla. Veterropt business manager is Phyllis Sander-son of Aiken, S. C., and Mary Neuman, of Fitzgerald will serve as associate editor of the Wesleyan.

At Rivoli

Ruth White of Atlanta, a psychology major, was elected president of College Government Association for 1953-54.

Natalie Brewton of McRae, a recreation leadership major, will serve as Y president.

Jean Malone was elected president of the Athletic Association. Jean is a recreation major from Albany.

Joyce Paris of Gainesville will head the Social Standards organization. Joyce is a psychology major. Jean Thrasher, English major from Atlanta, was appointed editor-in-chief of Town & Country by the retiring staff, and Ann Parsons, of Duluth, Ga., who served as associate editor of the Veterropt this year, was appointed editor-in-chief of that publication.

IN MEMORIAM

Minnie (Iverson) Randolph, 1871
 Lena (Everett) Phillips, 1885
 Clifford Wilcox, 1892
 Carrie C. Henry, 1893
 Edna (Giles) Fuller, 1894
 Kenneth (Flanders) Girardeau, 1902
 Anna Kate (Williams) Philips, 1904
 May Bird (Burt) Lockhart, 1909
 Sara (Singleton) King, 1918
 Weeta (Watts) Mathews, 1919
 Elizabeth Watson, 1926
 Margaret (Walthall) Gerson, 1928
 Frances McArthur, 1938
 Elizabeth (Kuhn) Foreman, 1949

Drama Students Give Comedy

Bell, Book and Candle, play by John Van Druten, was given in Pierce Chapel on April 17 and 18 and received enthusiastic acclaim from a near capacity audience. Following this the Drama Department packed up and left for their annual spring tour, playing at Camp Gordon in Augusta, Fort Jackson in Columbia, S. C., and Marine Recruiting School at Parris Island, S. C.

Good Publicity

Wesleyan and two Wesleyannes received some nice publicity when the Atlanta Journal of July 5 carried a feature story written by Jean Thrasher, '54, about Jane Cantrell, '55. Jean is studying journalism (and many other things!) at Wesleyan, and Jane is Playground Director at Grant Park during the summer months.

Girl of the Year Awards

Helen Long was selected by the Hill faculty to receive the Town & Country Girl of the Year award and Ann Walker, senior from Mt. Vernon, was selected by the College faculty to receive this award. The awards were presented during the two spring formals held separately, the Conservatory on May 16 and Rivoli May 2.

May Court

Mary Joe Cawley, senior of Quitman, head of Social Standards this past year, was May Queen and reigned over the May Day activities of May 1 and 2. The College spring formal held in the Anderson dining room at Rivoli was presided over by the May Queen and her court.

CRADLE ROLL

1936

Margaret (Stubbs) Rohde, a daughter, Ellen Stubbs, born April 3.

1937

Fannie (Philips) Kinstle, a daughter, Katherine Virginia, on February 28.

1938

Margaret (Dixon) Michaelson, a son, David Denton, born June 8th, in Macon. Rae (Stubbs) Ingle, a son, Paul, born June 12, 1953, in Macon, Ga.

Marian (Waxelbaum) Kaufman, a son, born June 23 in Macon.

1940

Ruth (Hall) Knox, a son, born in June.

1941

Martha (Balkcom) Clark, a daughter, Karen Ray born June 13.

1942

Miriam (Rudesal) Smith, a son, Alan Randolph, born April 22.

1943

Mary (Anderson) Comer, a son, James Anderson, born May 1.

1944

Alda (Alexander) Harper, a son, George Warren, born at Robins Air Force Base Hospital April 9.

1945

Joyce (Daniel) Mann, a son, Clark Daniel, born April 12.

Sara (Griffin) James, a son, Tommy, Jr., born January 3.

1946

Sarah Ann (Balkcom) Bevard, a son, born June 4, in Weisbaden, Germany.

Katherine (Smith) Glover, a daughter, Karen, born June 19, in Jackson, Miss.

Peggy (Worley) Studwell, a daughter, Kathryn Margaret, born May 25, 1953.

Rebekah (Yates) Anders, a daughter, born June 2, 1953, in Rochester, N. Y.

1948

Hattie Black (Baker) Richter, a daughter, Veva Virginia, born Feb. 26.

Alice (Hicks) Boyd, an adopted son, June 3, 1953, in Macon, Ga.

Katherine (Perryman) Andrews, a son, Robert Edge, Jr., born March 23.

1949

Adele (Dippy) Phillips, a daughter, Nancy Elaine, born April 15.

Margaret (Duckworth) Sewell, a daughter, Cynthia Ann, born May 14, 1953, in Atlanta, Ga.

Beverly (Folsom) Dyer, a son, Michael Edwin, born April 23.

Betty (Stanley) Butler, a daughter, Elizabeth Darsey, born February 10.

1950

Mary Evelyn (Coney) Davidson, a son, John Keay IV, born May 11.

Betty (Davidson) Rice, a son, Frank David, born on July 4.

Florrie Jean (Matthews) Johnson, a son, Rees, Jr., born June 1.

Carolyn (Red) Jarrett, a son, Henry Jarrett III, born June 17, in Riverside, California.

Peggy (Wells) MacLeod, a son, Newton Bruce, born February 23, in Nashville, Tenn.

1951

Nancy (Wyatt) Ezzard, a son, Henry Speer Ezzard, Jr., born March 8.

1952

Dorothy (Smith) Sharp, a son, Lawrence Thomas, born on April 27.

1953

Betty Lou (Barber) McClure, a daughter, Elizabeth Kathryn, born April 9.

Geraldine (Dixon) Harris, a daughter, born May 27, in Atlanta.

WEDDINGS AND ENGAGEMENTS

Alexander—Smith

Dorothy Jane Alexander, A.B. 1928, to Cap C. Smith of San Francisco, Calif., in June.

Bell—Ford

Mary Frances Bell, A.B. 1942, to Francis P. Ford of Roselle, N. J., on April 3.

Blain—Smith

Eddie Zeph Blain, A.B. 1945, to Jack Bryan Smith of Decatur, Ga., in July.

Brockman—Dickinson

Ann Brockman, 1954, to Thomas Coston Dickinson of Atlanta on June 9.

Causey—Spears

Frances Causey, A.B. 1952, to Wentford Abner Spears of Macon and Augusta, in August.

Chambers—Sprayberry

Betty Jean Chambers, 1951, to T/Sgt. James Alex Sprayberry now stationed in Savannah, on July 11.

Chapman—Perry

Jane Isabel Chapman, 1945, to Prentice Lamar Perry of Dublin, May 17.

Childs—Sobraske

Virginia Childs, 1954, to Lt. Robert E. Sobraske of Los Angeles, Calif., and Ft. Benning, Ga., June 7.

Clarke—Grice

Celetta (Clarke) Fagan, A.B. 1936, to Samuel Rumph Grice of Willow Lake, Marshallville, Ga., April 25.

Coleman—Whiteway

Marianne Coleman, A.B. 1949, to Robert William Whiteway of Billerica, Mass., and Atlanta, on July 1.

Cox—Rogers

Reginald Ann Cox, 1954, to John R. Rogers of Ashburn, Ga., in August.

Deal—Baker

Esther Deal, 1952, to Herman DuPree Baker of Monroe, May 17.

Dodd—Hollady

Rebecca Dodd, B.M. 1951, to Rev. Austin Hollady of Orlando, Fla., on August 9.

Douglas—Lawrence

Ann Douglas, 1954, to John Kent Lawrence, Jr., of Monroe, in May.

Edge—Taylor

Perry Sue Edge, 1951, to Wyndell Lee Taylor of Clinchfield and Columbus, Ga., June 20.

Eidson—Robertson

Virginia Eidson, 1953, to John Lee Robertson of Atlanta, May 9.

Evans—Lee

Emily Evans, 1954, to George Lee, Jr., of Macon, in September.

Federline—Thompson

Patryce Federline, 1952, to Archibald Scales Thompson, Lt. jg., U.S.N., April 18.

Ford—Tatom

Sidney Ford, A.B. 1951, to Dr. Louis Tatom III, of Clinton, N. C., and Gainesville, Fla., on June 6.

Hammond—Tyler

Sarah Elizabeth Hammond, 1954, to Billy Gibson Tyler of Monticello in the late summer.

Harvey—Hartman

Beverly Harvey, A.B. 1952, to Rev. Loyal O. Hartman, Jr., of Ripley, Tenn., June 25.

Haynie—Jackson

Mickey Haynie, 1955, to Ralph Leon Jackson of Gray, Ga., engagement announced in May.

Heirs—Whitworth

Frances Heirs, A.B. 1951, to Richard Joseph Whitworth of Saco, Maine, engagement announced in May.

Hempstead—Stanfill

Joanne Hempstead, 1951, to Neil Mickler Stanfill of Tallahassee, Fla., on August 1.

Hogan—Metts

Betty Ann Hogan, 1950, to James Clayton Metts, Jr., of Savannah and Augusta, June 13.

Holland—Archibald

Mary Annie Holland, 1953, to Rev. Robert Archibald, Jr., of Birmingham, Ala., on July 23.

Jackson—Lindsey

Gwen Jackson, 1954, to Almont Edward Lindsey, Jr., of Fredericksburg, Va., and Mercer University, April 11.

Johnson—Snelling

Margaret Lenora Johnson, A.B. 1941, to Rev. Clarence Haas Snelling, Jr., on May 14, in New Orleans, La.

Jones—Akins

Barbara Anne Jones, 1954, to Roy LeVaughn Akins of Statesboro, June 24.

Justus—Presley

Ruth Justus, 1951, to Luther B. Presley of Thomaston, Ga., in June.

Kerr—McLeod

Angie Kerr, 1955, to Paul McCleod, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, May 9.

Lewis—Montet

Nancy Lewis, A.B. 1952, to Numa F. Montet of Thibodaux, La., June 20.

Loudermilk—Richards

Joyce Loudermilk, 1955, to George Edward Richards of Marietta, engagement announced in May.

McDaniel—Lovett

Jacquelyn McDaniel, B.S. 1953, to Daniel Jackson Lovett, Jr., of Macon and Richmond, Va., June 14.

McKay—Garris

Anne McKay, B.F.A. 1951, to T/Sgt. Berle R. Garris, USMC of Savannah and Fremont, N. C., June 28.

Martin—Benson

June Martin, A.B. 1952, to Homer Stanley Benson, Jr., of Pensacola, Fla., June 14.

Miller—Major

Virginia Miller, 1933, to James Carlisle Major of Lakeland, Fla., on July 3.

Miller—Morgan

Joyce Miller, B.F.A. 1949, to Jimmie Whiteside Morgan of Macon on June 13.

Quartermann—Davis

Ellen Quartermann, 1949, to Dr. Marvin L. Davis of South Pasadena, Calif., June 24.

Singley—Adams

Anna Kay Singley, 1956, to Billy Adams of Macon, June 20.

Smith—Merritt

Sara Deane Smith, 1954, to Edward Florence Merritt, Jr., of Atlanta, June 9.

Smith—Miller

Elinor Smith, A.B. 1951, to Warren C. Miller of Port Arthur, Texas, and Chicago, Ill., on May 27.

Smith—Walker

Louis Smith, A.B. 1952, to Capt. Homer Lee Walker of Fort Benning, Ga., June 14.

Thompson—Bailey

Adrienne Thompson, 1952, to Rev. Dean Adams Bailey of Charleston, W. Va., in late summer.

Thornton—Bissell

Mayson Thornton, A.B. 1953, to Robert Bissell of Decatur and Augusta, Ga., June 25.

Thornton—Hawley

Cornelia Thornton, 1954, to Sgt. David Perry Hawley of Macon and Austin, Texas, on July 6.

Veatch—Replinger

Sarah Veatch, A.B. 1944, to Randall John Replinger of Flint, Mich., June 18.

Weakley—Lapsley

Brenda Weakley, A.B. 1952, to James N. Lapsley, Jr., of Clarksville, Tenn., June 4.

Welch—Eastham

Merrilyn Welch, A.B. 1953, to James Dana Eastham of Andover, Mass., June 30.

Weldon—Baker

Alice Weldon, A.B. 1952, to Benjamin Baker of Nashville, Tenn., September 6.

White—Barnett

Martha Bell White, 1953, to Kenneth Charles Barnett of West Hartford, Conn., in the fall.

Williams—Allen

Anna Clare Williams, 1955, to Lt. James C. Allen of Lynchburg, Va., and Robins Air Force Base, May 30.

Willis—Bailey

Martha Ann Willis, 1952, to Henry C. Bailey of Carrollton on August 23.

Wood—Whitehurst

Elaine Wood, B.F.A. 1953, to James McCallum Whitehurst of Jeffersonville and Ft. Riley, Kansas, May 9.

Wootton—McIntyre

Jane Wootton, A.B. 1951, to Meriwether Lewis McIntyre of Marietta, April 25.

Woth—Huff

Dorothy Woth, 1952, to Prentis Baker Huff of Hazard, Ky., on July 18.

How Do You Pronounce "Alumnae"?

At a meeting of alumni and alumnae secretaries of all colleges in the United States and Canada it was agreed some years ago to use the following pronunciations:

Alumni (Graduates and former students who are men) with a long i, pronounced like "eye."

Alumnae (women) with a long e sound, as in "knee."

Class Notes

1871

Minnie (Iverson) Randolph passed away July 2. Her son, William B. Randolph of New York City, survives her; also a grandson, Beverly Francis Randolph, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Florence Randolph.

1885

Word has just reached the Alumnae Office of the death of Lena (Everett) Phillips on April 14, 1953, at Louisville, Ga. Sympathy is extended to her family and friends.

1891

Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth in May visited her youngest great-granddaughter, Katharyn Ainsworth Gray, born in February, and her granddaughter, Eloise (Ainsworth) Gray, '41, in Hattiesburg, Miss.

Birt (Thomas) Park, who makes her home in Phoenix, Arizona, spent the summer at the Conference Grounds at Mt. Hermon, Calif.

1892

Lila Cabaniss is improving after seriously fracturing her arm in May.

Sympathy is extended to Nellie (Edwards) Williams in the death of her husband, Robert Morgan Williams, in May.

Sympathy is extended to Marion (Speer) Heyward in the death of her husband, Andrew, in May. Marion has four sons and eight grandchildren. Her address is: 2575 Vineville Avenue, Macon, Ga.

The friends and classmates of Clifford Wilcox regret to learn of her death in June in Macon. Sympathy is extended to her sister, Minnie (Wilcox) Anderson, '86, of Falls Church, Va.

1893

Stella E. Daniel of Vidalia, Ga., wrote that a broken shoulder and cracked elbow were keeping her from her class reunion.

Lula (Fulghum) Vincent spent the entire month of May in Seattle, Wash., with her daughter, Margaret (Vincent) Smith, '24, and could not attend her class reunion.

The many friends of Eloise (Nicholson) McIntosh of Tallahassee, Fla., will regret to learn she has suffered many months with a broken hip. We wish for her a complete and speedy recovery.

1894

Alice L. Collins of Eatonton, Ga., wrote that illness was keeping her from her class reunion.

Word has just reached the Alumnae Office of the death last December of Edna (Giles) Fuller, an outstanding civic, religious, and educational leader in Orlando, Fla. Sympathy is extended to all the family including the granddaughter, Lois Geeslin, '56.

Lula (Johnson) Comer, accompanied by her son, Joe E. Comer of Phoenix, Ariz., and his wife, went in June to visit her daughter, Mrs. George Wiese, and Mr. Wiese at Patterson Episcopal School for Boys near Blowing Rock, N. C., for the rest of the summer.

Rosa Winkler (Smith) Johnston underwent an emergency operation in June and was reported in fair condition following. Her two daughters, Rosa (Johnston) Law, '36, of Philadelphia, and Edwina (Johnston) Stone, '39, of Seattle, Wash., were with their father while their mother was in the hospital.

1895

May (DeLacy) Jessup was elected second vice-regent of the Colonel William Few Chapter of the D.A.R. in Eastman at the May meeting. May was a "reunioner" and attended the Alumnae Day luncheon.

1897

An exhibit of paintings by Helen Eastman (Ogden) Campbell was held in the Little Gallery of the Barbizon Hotel in New York City from May 1 through June 30. Tea was served the afternoon of May 13.

1899

Ola May (Harrison) Moulder writes the Alumnae Office with great pride of her ten grandchildren. She says, "My oldest grandson is being graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology this summer. He has had many splendid offers of jobs with some of the largest companies in the country. Two other grandsons in Middletown, Ohio, will marry this summer. One of them is planning to be a minister. He is in the Theological School at Colgate in Rochester, N. Y., and is assistant pastor in one of the churches there. He was Phi Beta Kappa at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio."

1902

Sympathy is extended to Nell (Knight) Cleghorn in the death of her husband, Cicero, in April. Nell and her husband had lived in Albuquerque, N. M., for the last three years. Ann (Cleghorn) Glass, '07, is a sister.

Mary Addie (Murph) Mullino is in the party of 17 that Bishop Arthur J. Moore organized for a six weeks tour of Europe beginning in July.

1903

Samuel Y. Tupper, Jr., son of Alice (Cary) Tupper, flew to Europe in June for a month's tour.

1904

Kate (Calloway) Malone, retiring principal of Alexander III School in Macon, was honored with a tea in May by the Alexander III Parent-Teacher Association.

Jewel (Davis) Scarborough of Abilene, Texas, on March 12 presented her rare old library collection to McMurry College. The presentation and acceptance was carried out at a reception held in the Radford Memorial Student Life Center, however she was unable to attend because of illness and her husband, Judge Scarborough, made the presentation for her. In presenting Judge Scarborough, Mrs. John Bishop, personal friend of Jewel and English teacher in Abilene High School, spoke of the many ways Jewel had served the people of Abilene; as executive board member of the Texas Equal Suffrage Association in 1919, election judge of Taylor County, 1919-1950; as Presidential Elector in the Democratic Party of Texas in 1940; as a member of the Parks and Recreation Board of Abilene for many years; as president and official of the Taylor County Tuberculosis Association during its existence—as yet being active in the organization; as organizer of numerous civic, cultural, charitable, and patriotic clubs and bodies; a communicant in the Episcopal Church, she is, too, member of the D.A.R.; the U.D.C., the Daughters of 1812, the Colonial Dames, honorary member of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, and honorary member of the honor educational society for women teachers, Delta Kappa Gamma; she is wife of a distinguished jurist and mother of two fine young lawyers of our city."

Jewel represented Wesleyan College at the inauguration of Edward Newlon Jones as sixth president of Texas Technological College in Lubbock, Texas, May 18.

When the Harris Gate, located on the Tech campus at Cherry Street and North Avenue, Atl., was dedicated in June, Fannie (Harris) Wallace joined a family group there for the impressive exercises.

Dessa (Hays) Asher attended the fifteenth annual session of the Georgia Synodical Training School of the Presbyterian Church held at Wesleyan in June.

Lucia (Johnson) Edmondson of Aniston, Ala., had a visit in July from her sister, Louise (Johnson) Kelly of Macon, '06.

The many friends of Anna Kate (Williams) Philips will regret to learn of her death on March 22.

1905

Anne DeButts (Shaw) Richardson's husband, Dr. Charles, Sr., of Macon was re-elected delegate to the American Medical Association at the 103rd annual meeting of the Medical Association of Georgia in May.

Essie (Skellie) McCook of Macon has again mailed the Wesleyan Library a check to be used in memory of her daughter, Virginia McCook, '35.

1907

Sympathy is extended to Kittie (Jewett) Budd who suffered shoulder and hip injuries in an automobile accident recently. Her home address is 273 Orange St., Macon, Georgia.

Tatum (Pope) Happ's husband received a citation recently for his "significant contribution" to education during his long service on the Bibb County Board of Education.

1908

Albert Walker, Jr., son of Fannie Mangham (Hill) Walker, who has worked as assistant to the foremost modern American composers, Menotti and Aaron Copland, wrote the anthem, John Fourteen, which was sung for the first time in April at Vineville Methodist Church, Macon. Albert started playing at the age of four and studying at early age of seven. At nine he decided he wanted to be a composer, and even four years in the service did not alter his plans. He is the brother of Elizabeth (Walker) Preston, '35.

Maybelle (Jones) Dewey's husband, Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey, who directed the Emory University glee club for 33 years, returned to the Pennsylvania college, where he took his A.B. degree in 1940, to receive an honorary Doctor of Humanities degree June 8.

Clyde (Malone) Cohen's husband, Henry, was elected president of the Georgia Bankers Association at a recent convention held in Savannah.

Margaret (Van Dyke) Larsen, after 24 years of work in the Jeffersonville Post Office, retired in June.

1909

Word has just reached the Alumnae Office of the death of May Bird (Burt) Lockhart in Columbus September 15, 1952. She was formerly from Buena Vista, Ga.

1911

Gladys (Napier) Corbin is taking what the travel folders called a "Coronation Cruise." She arrived in England June 1, and reached London early the morning of the Coronation. Gladys traveled with Marmee Hatcher, '31, until June 22, after which Marmee sailed for home and Gladys joined another tour traveling over the continent.

Edna (Watkins) Sowers of Macon and her husband, Vernon, received diplomas from the Life Bible College of Los Angeles, Calif., on June 25. Edna's daughter, Mary Newman, will be a junior next year in Wesleyan's School of Fine Arts.

Sympathy is extended to Hooper (Wikle) Beck in the death of her husband in May.

1912

Ruth (Calhoun) Shackleford is teaching science at Southwest DeKalb High School near Decatur, Ga., while her husband is pastor of St. John Methodist Church in Atlanta. Their son, Thomas H. Jr., is in the Army and their daughter, Jimmie Claire, an honor graduate of Asbury College, is teaching in Lydia Patterson Institute, Methodist mission school.

Sympathy is extended to Nelle (Irwin) Horkan in the death of her father, Col. John R. Irwin, in April. At the time of his death he was the oldest living member of Kappa Alpha Fraternity in the United States. He had served as Solicitor General of the Pataula Circuit, and as state senator and representative from Terrell County, Georgia.

Timothy Harden, Jr., son of Bessie (Stubbs) Harden of Macon, was graduated June 6 from Emory University School of Medicine. Attending his graduation also was his sister, Dorothea (Harden) Keen, '43, of Dublin, his aunt, Maude (Stubbs) Stulb, '12, of New Orleans, and his wife, Roslyn (Atkinson) Harden, '49.

Captain Trammell Shi, son of Lucille (Trammell) Shi, has been assigned to the special staff section of the 3031st Station Complement. Sympathy is extended to Lucile in the death in May of her brother, Walter Blount Trammell of Columbus. He is also survived by a niece, Lucile (Shi) Hanson, '49.

1913

Annie (Dickey) Jones' husband, the Rev. Henry H. Jones of Griffin was elevated to Executive secretary in charge of superannuated ministers of the N. Ga. Conference at the meeting in Atlanta in June. Mr. Jones is probably best known as editor of the Sunday School lessons in the Christian Advocate, which he has prepared for more than 25 years.

Annie (Gant) Anderson attended the biennial convention of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority held in June at Banff, Canada.

Sympathy is extended to Luride (Turner) Neal in the death in June of her husband, Roy I. Neal of Macon.

1914

Mary Dudley (Fort) Colley, who has served as president of the Women's Society of Christian Service, North Georgia Conference, for several years, was cited for outstanding work and presented an Honorary Life Patron Membership when the organization held its annual conference in April.

Sympathy is extended to Mildred (McKenzie) Rumph, and to her sisters, Corinne (McKenzie) Easterlin, '20, and Louise (McKenzie) Jones, '23, in the death of their brother, W. Lynn McKenzie, in May.

Sympathy is extended to Evelyn (Newman) Smith in the recent death of her husband, William Henry Smith, Jr., in Atlanta.

Florence Smith writes the Alumnae Office that with her teaching and getting her pupils ready for their music recital on June 4 she will be unable to attend her class reunion, much to her regret. She is very proud of two high school seniors, one of Jackson and one of Clinton, Miss., who are her piano pupils. They were selected as winners for a college piano scholarship in the State Piano Festival, sponsored by the Mississippi High School Activities Association and the Mississippi Music Educators Assn. These scholarships were offered by "Ole Miss" and M.S.C.W.

W. N. Banks, Grantville, Trustee and benefactor of Wesleyan, and husband of Mary Evelyn (Wright) Banks, was a member of the 1903 class honored at Emory-at-Oxford on June 4.

1915

Ruth (Beeland) Jackson and her husband returned in May from Epworth-by-the-Sea and invited a bunch of 1915 Wesleyannes for a houseparty during Commencement, but for various reasons none were able to accept.

Frances (Holden) Morrison and her husband attended the N.E.A. meeting in Miami in June.

Lucie (Mobley) Moore flew to Nashville to her daughter Sara's graduation from Scarritt College. Sara will remain in Nashville to work with the Board of Christian Education.

Sympathy is extended to Annie Bess (Outler) Dyer, whose husband died very suddenly of a heart attack in March. The Alumnae Office did not hear of her tragic loss until recently.

Anne L. (Stowe) Fleming writes about the Loyalty Fund as follows: "Sorry not to give more but my youngest is at Georgia and I'll be at summer school there both sessions after spending part of last summer on the campus getting 'educated' no end! Have enjoyed visiting my children and their 'bewildering' offspring. Also have a brand new granddaughter and 'namesake' in Hickory, N.C., where Allen is advertising manager at Sears."

Mozelle Tumlin is taking a vacation from her work at Harris Hall, Emory University, to visit Cuba and will stop in Jacksonville to see Anita (Morgan) Board and her family.

1916

Sympathy is extended to Esther (Flanders) Woodruff, and to her sister, Bernice (Flanders) Green, '20, in the death of their sister, Kenneth (Flanders) Girardeau, '20, in March. She is also survived by a son, Col. R. K. Girardeau, of Claxton.

Verna (French) Shaffer, delegate from the Cordele Symphony Club to the National Federation of Music Clubs convention in New York, gave a report of the convention to the Club at their May meeting. Verna is also regent of the Fort Early Chapter, D.A.R., of Cordele.

Jesse (Moss) Worley's husband, the Rev. E. Dayton Worley, received the honorary doctor of divinity degree from Emory and Henry College in May. He has served as superintendent of three Methodist districts. He now heads that of Chattanooga, Tenn.

1918

Sympathy is extended to Elizabeth (Forehand) Haugabook in the death of her mother, Mrs. Bessie Cheney Forehand, in May. Her mother had been city librarian in Montezuma, Ga., for 25 years.

The engagement of Polly (Pierce) Corn's daughter, Susan, to James Stewart Conway of Shaker Heights, Ohio, was announced Easter morning, April 6. Her son, Chuck Corn, was installed as vice president of the Lanier Senior High School Hi-Y Club at their annual banquet in May.

The friends and classmates of Sara (Singleton) King will regret to learn of her death in Waycross in May. She was a prominent civic leader and an author and journalist, being co-author of a book about the Okefenokee Swamps.

1919

Linda Lane, the daughter of Linda (Anderson) Lane, gave her initial public performance the afternoon of May 5 at Pierce Chapel at the Morning Music Club's guest meeting. The Music Club members were hostesses at an informal reception in the Wesleyan parlors following the program. Linda Lane has just completed her third winter of study in New York with Madame Vengerova. She began her studies with Louise Lin and while in high school studied with Ralph Lawton. She was graduated from Vassar in 1950.

1920

The classmates of Annie Claire (Gibson) Greene will regret to learn that her daughter, Mrs. Ray Bozeman, was stricken with polio. Although completely helpless, the daughter is showing some slight signs of improvement.

Elsa Logan writes the Alumnae Office that she will be back at the University of Dubuque, Dubuque, Iowa, next year teaching French and German.

Elizabeth (Loyall) Woods was a member of the party Mrs. Gerhard Bosch accompanied to Europe during the summer.

Sue Maxwell represented Wesleyan College at the inauguration of Robert Wesson Gibson as the sixth president of Monmouth College in Illinois on April 17.

Sue Ellen (Morton) Boyette's niece, Anne Buriss, from Columbia, S.C., visited Wesleyan dormitory last week end. She will be a member of the class of 1957.

Willie (Snow) Ethridge was the first woman to be guest speaker for the annual national-awards banquet of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago, late in May. Her husband, Mark, publisher of the Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times, was the commencement speaker at Kentucky State College on June 3.

1921

Because her husband, I. W. Duggan, has assumed new duties as vice-president of the Trust Company of Georgia, Fannie (Caney) Duggan has changed her residence from Washington, D. C., to Atlanta.

Martha (Clarke) Baker's daughter, Martha, was down from New York City in July for a visit.

Sympathy is extended to Margaret (Everett) Dugger of Tampa, Fla., in the death of her father, Philip Cook Everett of Vienna, Ga., in June.

Marion (Padrick) Woodard of Tifton has every right to be proud of her son Jack, Jr. She writes, "Jack was graduated from Asbury this June, a pre-medical major. He was a 'cum laude' graduate and his high average won for him the Kenyon Science award. He has been accepted at both Georgia and Emory Medical Schools, but plans to enter Georgia in September. Jack, Sr., Gail, our 14-year-old and I went to commencement by way of Nashville, Tenn., where we visited with Abigail (Greaves) Randolph, '23, my dear friend, who was doing graduate work at Peabody preparatory to going to Houston, Texas, on May 30 to teach Education in the University of Houston."

1922

When the new graduates of Wesleyan College and School of Fine Arts were inducted into the Alumnae (and Alumni) Association, Annie Lee (Cross) Grimes lighted the candle for her son, Thaddeus Stowe Grimes; and when he stepped forward to receive his diploma, Dr. B. Joseph Martin, president of Wesleyan, stepped back and invited the Rev. E. J. Grimes to present the precious parchment to his son.

Sympathy is extended to Ruth (Davis) Radebaugh in the death of her mother in Perry on June 1.

Elizabeth (Forehand) Haugabook has cause to remember the summer of 1953. One son was married, and the other admitted to the South Georgia Conference of the Methodist Church.

Irene (Sewell) Hobby's son, Lovic Worth Hobby, of Atlanta was one of eight Georgians to be selected to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary fraternity, at the 101st commencement ceremonies at Duke University this past June.

1923

Abigail (Greaves) Randolph's son, Judson, was graduated from Vanderbilt Medical School this June.

Martha (Lifsey) Garrett's daughter, Martha, was married in August. The younger daughter, Joann, has completed her sophomore year at Wesleyan.

Dorris (Morris) Hammond writes the Alumnae Office she has been in Japan for seven months and does not plan to return to the States until the latter part of 1954. Her address is c/o Lt. Col. Brett R. Hammond, F.E.C. SAG-J 0195324, A.P.O. 500, c/o P.M., San Francisco, Calif.

The many friends in Macon of Rebekah (Oliphant) Anthony and her husband, the Rev. Mack Anthony, regretted to lose them to Valdosta where he is now pastor of the First Methodist Church. Becky's son, Bascom F. Anthony, was initiated into Alpha Kappa Kappa medical fraternity at Emory University where he is also a member of the Kappa Alpha social fraternity.

Ruth (Ramsey) Klingler of Atlanta has written about her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Ferguson of Savannah, and her son, Don Klingler, 15 years old. Ruth lost her husband May 24, 1952.

1924

Anne (Douglas) Wallace was among the prospective officers nominated and unanimously elected at the recent meeting of the D.A.R. in Washington. She will serve as registering general for the next three years.

Sympathy is extended to Elizabeth (Thwaite) Jones, and her sister, Mary Lou (Thwaite) Scribner, '30, in the loss of their father in May. Martha (Zachry) Thwaite, '39, was a daughter-in-law.

1925

Stella (Johnson) Baines and her husband are with the Dade County Port of Authority. Their address is 2181 N. W., 101 St., Miami, Fla.

Sympathy is extended to Virginia (McGehee) Allen in the death of her mother, Mrs. E. H. McGehee, in April.

The Georgia Chapter of the American Guild of Organists reelected Marie (Patten) Smith as dean of the guild.

1926

Mary Lou Barton is the new president of the Sidney Lanier chapter, U.D.C.

Marie (Dover) Carter of Gainesville, Ga., retiring president of the Hall County Hospital Auxiliary, will long be remembered for the work she has done the last two years to help this infant organization grow; for the "Bright Spot" in the Hospital which she named and which not only lives up to its name but brings in monthly about $100.00 to go back into the Auxiliary fund; for the two tangible gifts during her administration of an oxygen tent and a portable medical dispenser to the Hospital. In March a lovely picture of Marie appeared in the Gainesville Times with a write-up of her influence for good in her community.

Charlotte (Emerson) Walton attended the fifteenth annual session of the Georgia Synodical Training School of the Presbyterian Church held at Wesleyan in June.

Sara (Jenkins) Cunningham wrote after the Alumnae Day program, "I feel very humble about the award. And I rather expected at the last moment that Miss Garner would lean over the battlements of heaven to forbid the whole thing, announcing, 'But she can't spell!'"

Freida (Kaplan) Nadler's father, Henry Kaplan, was honored with an open house at his home celebrating his 80th birthday on April 15. His other daughter, Sylvia (Kaplan) Cohen of Chicago, '21, and his four sons also helped receive his many friends.

Katherine (Lowe) Clarke, principal of the Marshallville High School, gave out the diplomas at the graduating exercises on June 5.

The Memory, Emory-at-Oxford's student yearbook, was dedicated to the husband of ReLee (Mallory) Brown.

Elizabeth Watson passed away at her home in Hawkinsville, Ga., April 7. She is survived by a sister and two brothers.

1927

Richard, son of Frances (Bush) Brubaker, representing Co. E, Lanier High, took first place honors in the regimental neatest cadet competition held April 15.

Elizabeth (Craven) Cobb and her daughter Beth from Mt. Lake, N. J., visited in Macon this summer and paid a visit to the Alumnae Office and the Library. Lois Birch of Macon drove them out to Rivoli. Beth will be a sophomore this fall at the University of Colorado. Elizabeth just "happened" to have snapshots of her two granddaughters with her!

Frances (Horner) Middlebrooks of Thomaston paid the Alumnae Office a visit in May while at Wesleyan to investigate entering her daughter, Jean, as a Freshman in September.

Virginia (Stubbs) Leps officially represented Wesleyan College at the Centennial celebration of the University of Florida in March.

1928

Carroll (Boyd) McLean writes she has been employed in the circulation department of the University library in Gainesville, Fla., since last September. She also had time for one course along with her work and studied library science. Her youngest son, Mack, is in the first grade at school; her daughter, Carroll English, is a junior at Florida State University in Tallahassee; her son, Bill English, 19, is with NARTU, NAS, Norfolk, Va.

Sympathy is extended to Virginia (Flynt) Langford in the loss of her mother, Mrs. Paul Flynt, in April.

Sympathy is extended to LeVert (Franks) Lang in the death of her mother in July.

Kathleen Mackay, who as head of the medical illustration and photography department at Emory University Hospital, sketches what she sees during operations for use later during lectures and discussions, left in July for a two months' tour of Europe with her brother, Dr. Roland P. Mackay of Chicago, father of Virginia Mackay, '51. Kathleen took her brushes and drawing board to sketch whatever appeals to her, and is planning to visit a number of hospitals to meet other medical illustrators.

Mary Lou (Martin) Davis spoke to the Harold Byrd American Legion Auxiliary Unit in Decatur on the subject "National Security" at their June meeting.

Frances (Owens) Forschler is president of a new chapter of UDC in Essex County, New Jersey. The new chapter is called the Desiree L. Franklin Chapter.

Pauline (Spratling) Merritt's husband, B. F., Jr., was elected Mayor of Macon by a 3 to 1 majority on June 30. He will take office in November.

The friends of Margaret (Walthall) Gerson will regret to learn of her death in April. She is survived by her husband, two sons, John, Jr., and Robert of Atlanta, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Walthall, of Macon.

Sympathy is extended to Martha (Watts) Harris in the death of her father, J. Mote Watts of Macon, in May.

1929

Katherine (Gordy) Banks' daughter, Leila, of Barnesville, married Charles Crawford Morgan, Jr., of Macon and Barnesville on June 12.

Helen (Grenade) Long was named president of the Milledgeville Music Club in May for two years.

Geraldine Wheeler, president of the local chapter of Delta Gamma Kappa, presided at a luncheon at the Hotel Dempsey given during the annual convention of that organization.

1930

Sally (Godley) Edwards' daughter, Caroline Edwards, outstanding junior at Savannah High School, was installed as junior state president of the Children of the Revolution at the fourteenth State Conference held at the DeSoto Hotel in April. Caroline is niece of Margaret Godley, '34. Sally wrote she would be dreadfully busy around reunion time trying to help her high school pupils, whom she coaches privately, pass their final work.

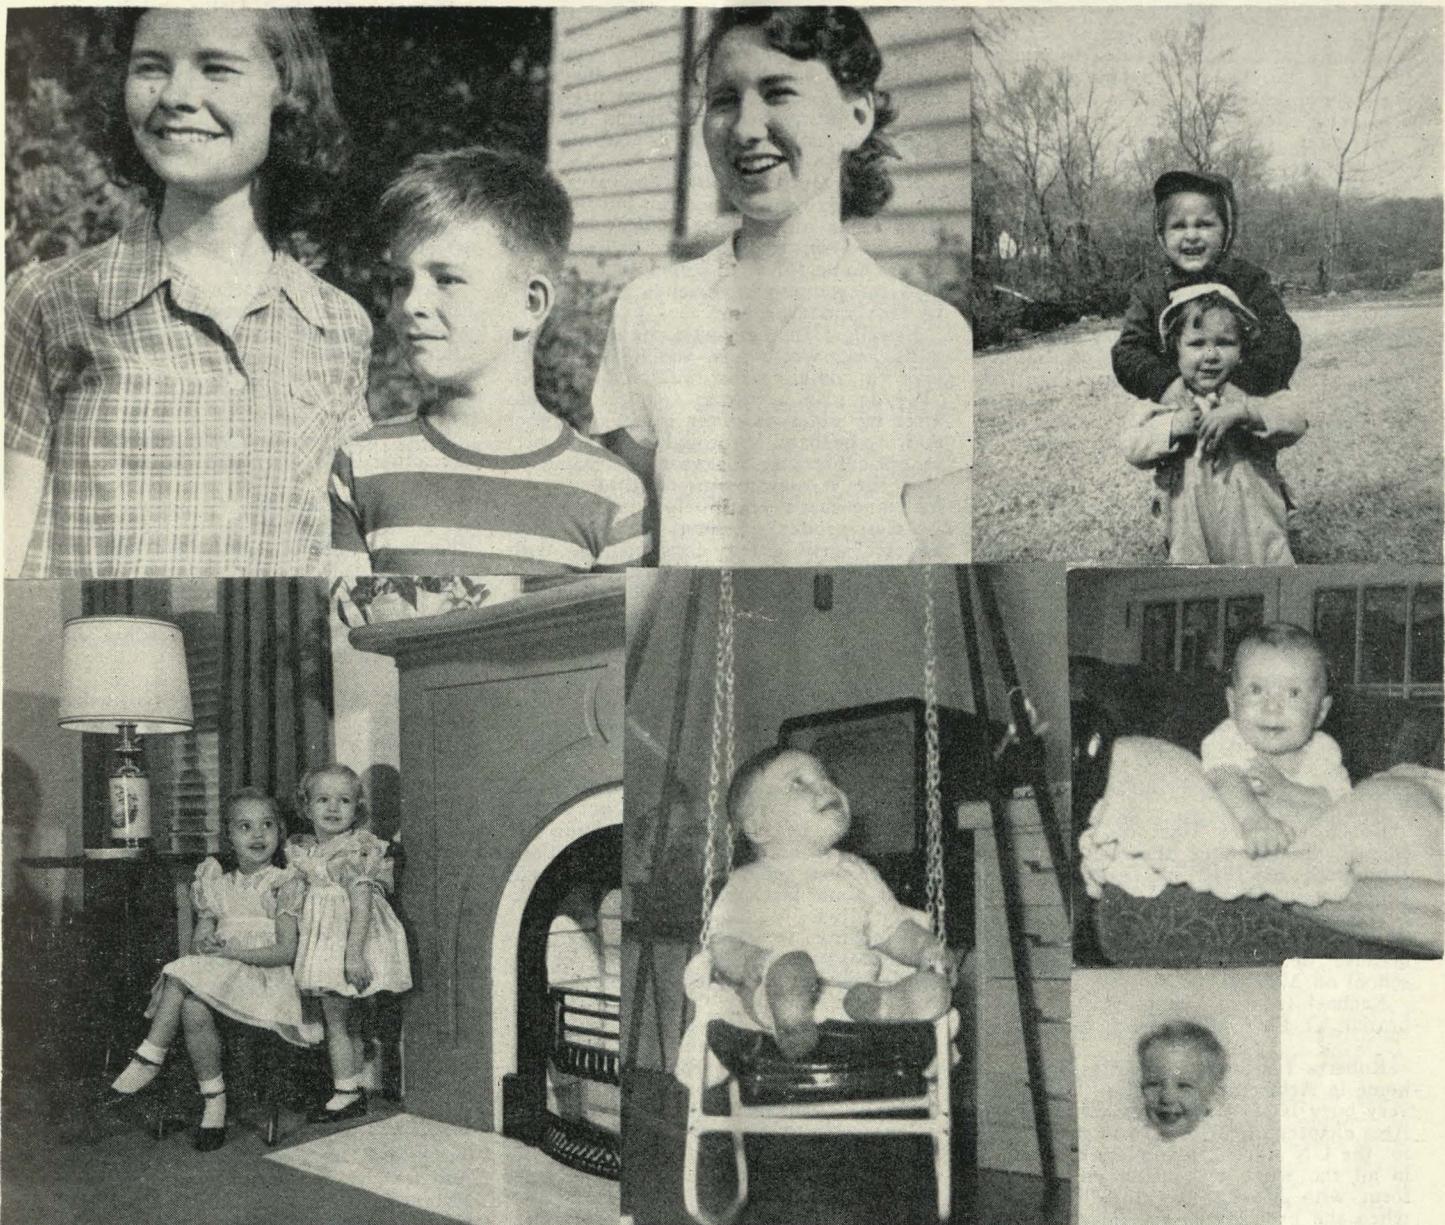

Wilbur S. Jones, husband of Josephine (Humphries) Jones was unanimously elected president of the Georgia Baptist Training Union Convention at the silver anniversary session of the assembly held at Mercer University in June.

Alice (Lanier) Amason and her husband are now living in Italy. Her address is c/o Major Warren H. Amason, 541st Signal Dep. Co., APO 19 c/o P. M., New York, N. Y.

Elizabeth (Scott) Hagan sailed in June from Seattle, Wash., to join her husband, Capt. Charles K. Hagan in Tokyo, Japan. He is an instructor in intelligence in the Far East Command and has been near Tokyo since March, 1952. During that time Elizabeth has been residing in Monmouth, Oregon, where she studied toward a master's degree at the University of Oregon. Last September she moved to Tacoma, Wash., to be nearer the port from which she would sail, and while there taught at a Navy Depot School.

Ling Nyi (Vee) Wang is secretary to the travel department, N.E.A. Her husband is no longer with the Chinese Embassy, but is in research work at M.I.T. Their oldest son, David, is doing graduate

Whose Children and Grandchildren?

(See Page 23)

REUNIONS IN 1954

Golden Anniversary Class	1904
Silver Anniversary Class	1929

1888	1889	1890	1891
1907	1908	1909	1910
1926	1927	1928	1929
1945	1946	1947	1948

Start planning now to come to Wesleyan for your Reunion in 1954. You'll have such fun.

Instructions To Proud Parents

If you plan to send the Alumnae Office a picture of your baby or children to be used in the alumnae magazine, be sure to send a glossy print. A good, clear snapshot will print nicely. Please do not send a regular photograph.

We look forward to receiving these pictures, so get busy with those kodaks and let the bulbs flash!!

work at Georgia Tech in electrical engineering. Their two younger children, Daniel and Judy, are in high school in Washington, D. C.

1931

Estelle ("Donnie" Anderson) Crouch of Albany attended the fifteenth annual session of the Georgia Synodical Training School of the Presbyterian Church held at Wesleyan in June.

Margaret (Boyd) Whitnel is active with the music club, community concerts, and church work in Fulton, Ky. Her little daughter, Linda, aged 9, sings beautifully.

Among the reunioners at the party given by Dot (Dannenberg) Greenwald around the swimming pool at her home on May 30 were Tibba (Anderson) Belcher of Anderson, S. C., Lottie (Bragg) Clarke of Perry, Martha Cooper of Perry, Safford Harris of Decatur, and Martha (Pate) Allen of Winter Haven, Fla. Martha Cooper is working at Warner Robins Air Base and Safford Harris at the Library at Georgia Tech.

Mary (Dumas) Ponder of Talladega, Ala., wrote longingly of coming to reunion but her son graduated from Baylor School in Chattanooga the very same day.

Margaret "Marmee" Hatcher attended the coronation festivities in England and was in the stands at 6 a.m. the morning of the parade. She left the tour after the coronation and traveled through Scotland and Ireland before returning to Macon alone.

Janie (Layfield) Pittman, her husband, Bill, and children were in Macon in June for the christening of Bill's nephew, Joe Pittman, Jr.

Bessie (Lester) Hart of Macon was elected president of the United States Daughters of 1812 in Georgia at the June meeting held in Atlanta.

Martha (Mayo) Lane of Nashville, Tenn., wrote she could not attend reunion because her son graduated from high school on May 30.

Rachael (Mays) Dempsey is Chief Librarian at Fort McPherson, Georgia.

1932

Roberta (Cason) Cox writes from her home in Arlington, Virginia: "Have been very busy lately helping us get a Capitol Area chapter of the American Association for the UN started. One piece of glamour in all the work was being on the platform with Myrna Loy the other night when she brought us greetings from the Board of Directors!"

Cora (Couch) Robinson of Winder gave a review of the book, "The Key to Peace," at the Department National Security Conference of the American Legion Auxiliary held at the Dempsey Hotel April 12.

Theo Hotch now serves as director of the Coffee County Public Library in Douglas, Georgia.

Malene (Lee) Morgan is very proud of her new daughter, Leila Banks Morgan, who married Charlie Morgan, Jr., in June.

Carolyn (Lowe) Bridgett, whose husband is with the American Embassy in La Paz, Bolivia, wrote longingly of wanting to attend her class reunion, but she said that finances won't stretch that far!

Louise (Pittman) Peabody was in Macon for her class reunion and again on June 21 for the christening of her nephew, Joe Pittman, Jr., at Vineville Methodist Church.

Sympathy is extended to Lellita Stipe of Brooklyn, N. Y., in the death of her father, Dr. John Gordon Stipe, in June.

Dr. Stipe, vice-president of Emory University, was one of the two remaining men that helped move the College from Oxford.

1933

Lois (Bennett) Davis is one of the new officers of the Macon Writers' Club.

Lillian (Chandler) Peterson's husband, James, of Ailey, was reelected president of the Central Georgia Council of Boy Scouts of America at the annual meeting held in Macon in June.

Frances Dorsey, who is now Mrs. Ben Goldman, is recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident last fall. Frances works for the Board of Education in her home town, Calhoun, Ga., and enjoys entertaining her friends in her lovely, very modern home.

Novelle (Hutchinson) Lane of Brooksville, Fla., wrote how much she would love to come up for reunion, and said, "We do plan a trip to Georgia in June after my older daughter is out of school and my husband is through with his post-school conference. Margaret is anxious to visit the Wesleyan campus although she has nine more years before college."

Lelia (Jones) Horton and her son Skeeter spent a few days in June with her father, Bruce Carr Jones of Macon.

Carolyn (Lawton) Harrell's daughter, Mary Elliott, was married on July 24 to Charles Edward Reeves of Macon and New Orleans.

Helen (McGrew) Fortney of Thomasville attended the fifteenth annual session of the Georgia Synodical Training school of the Presbyterian Church held at Wesleyan in June.

Virginia (Maxwell) Ridenour of Huntington, W. V., wrote she could not attend the reunion because she was helping her husband run his pharmacy (prescriptions and sickroom supplies only). They bought a new home last summer at 1667 Washington Blvd.

Sympathy is extended to Margaret (Murphy) Martin in the death of her father, J. Clay Murphy, prominent Macon citizen, in July, and to her sister, Mary (Murphy) Dillon, '34. He is also survived by his wife and 3 sons and by Sallie (Gillespie) Murphy, '35, Emily (Boswell) Murphy, '36, and Valeria (McCullough) Murphy, '48.

Jane (Northcutt) Brown of Marietta wrote she could not attend reunion because her daughter was graduating from high school May 29.

Lucile (Wallace) Nuckolls of Gainesville, Ga., made a substantial contribution to the Alumnae Loyalty Fund in memory of her sister, Mildred (Wallace) East, '38.

1934

Anne (Bone) Evans' husband, Frank O. Evans, of Milledgeville is the new U. S. attorney for the Middle Georgia District.

1935

Beth (Knight) Gillam and her husband, Col. Al Gillam, who live in Upper Hereford, England, had many visitors from the States during the Coronation and on into the summer.

While Sallie (Gillespie) Murphy and her husband, Thad, toured Europe this summer, their daughters stayed with Sallie's parents. They spent part of the vacation at Girl Scout Camp at Cloudland. Upon their return in July, Thad was installed as president of the Macon Rotary Club.

Ruth (Renfroe) Williams was called a "Key figure" in the plans of the Atlanta Flower Show held in May at the Biltmore Hotel.

Constance (Shumaker) Garrett's husband served as general chairman of the beautiful sesquicentennial Festival held in Milledgeville, Ga., in May.

Dorothy (Tinsley) Daily and her husband, Maurice, are continuing their mission work with Spanish speaking Americans at the Dewitt Memorial Church on Manhattan's Lower East Side. Dorothy writes, "This offers one of the most challenging opportunities for service we have ever met, in addition to providing excellent material for Maurice's project on his doctorate in Religious Education. Many of you will read about New York's Puerto Rican citizens in your mission-study study classes this fall."

David Preston, thirteen-year-old son of Elizabeth (Walker) Preston was given a medal for heroism by the Georgia Motor Club in a special presentation ceremony at his school in Macon. Young David saved the life of a six-year-old schoolmate when he dashed in a car's path to pull the youngster to safety. Elizabeth has two other sons, Ray and Jimmie.

1936

Cleetta (Clarke) Grice's husband, Samuel Rumph Grice, is the son of the late Elberta (Rumph) Grice, '98, who was one of Wesleyan's outstanding alumnae.

Margaret (Stubbs) Rohde, her husband and infant daughter, Ellen Stubbs, born April 3, now live at 532 N. Clara Ave., DeLand, Fla.

1937

Parkie (Culpepper) Lee's husband, Bill, of Newnan was elected president of the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association at the 78th annual convention held in Macon in April.

Evelyn (Moore) Means with daughter Diane and young son, Arthur James Means, named for his grandfather, Bishop Moore, will spend the summer with Mrs. Moore while Bishop Moore and his party tour Europe.

Sympathy is extended to Fannie (Philips) Kinstle in the death of her mother, Anna Kate (Williams) Philips, '04, on March 22.

Sympathy is extended to Evelyn (Shell) Crowley in the loss of her mother, Mrs. Martha Shell.

1938

The classmates and friends of Frances McArthur will be grieved to learn of her death last December 16 in Dallas, Texas. She was, at the time of her death, Consultant for Children's Bureau, Federal Security Agency, Washington, D. C., and was traveling in this capacity.

Susan Magette, who has been working for some time in the Logistics Research Division of the Navy Supply Research Facility, has gone to Japan for a tour of duty. She expected to be stationed about twenty miles south of Tokyo. She and her mother drove to California on the first lap of her trip.

Jim Peters, father of Mary Virginia (Peters) Taylor and Sara Frances (Peters) Mudter, '42, was given a diploma by the Manchester High School in recognition of his work for betterment of the public education system and his long career as a patron of the Manchester and Meriwether schools. Mary Virginia is active in Federated Club work, serving as an officer in the Georgia Federated Clubs.

Sara Marie (Siegal) Shurr, a most successful actress on the New York stage, visited her father, Dr. Siegal of Macon, this spring. Marie had just closed a long run in "Man of Distinction." She says she occasionally gets to see Eugenia (Rawls) Seawell, '32, who has done well on the legitimate stage.

1939

Mrs. Bascom Deaver of Macon, who studied voice after her marriage, in June entertained her son, Lt. Bascom Deaver, Jr., and his wife and daughter, Dianne from St. Louis, Mo.

Ann Maria Domingos, who has served as the very competent Children's Director for the South Georgia Conference of the Methodist Church, has resigned, and is now studying at New York University.

Mary Eva (Sowell) Harper and her husband, Major Hugh P. Harper, together with their two sons, Donnie, 7, and Tommy, 6, are returning to Macon to live following his release from active duty with the U. S. Air Force at Patrick A.F. Base, Fla.

Louise (Wadsworth) Jeffcoat mailed the Alumnae Office a clipping about the death of Miss Louise Rivers' mother. Louise wrote, "I'm afraid to tell you of the arrival of our third child, Russell Nelson, last October. Score to date: two boys, one girl. My husband is with the Citizens & Southern Bank here in Columbia, S. C."

1940

Margaret (Black) Pittman and her two youngest children, Peggy and Ernest, of Columbia, S. C., visited her mother, Mrs. Ernest Black, in June.

Leola Burnett of Columbia, S. C., holds a responsible position as secretary to the president of the Columbia Museum of Art. She returned in May from a trip to New York.

News has reached the Alumnae Office that Carol (Jones) Carlisle and her husband both teach at the University of South Carolina and have bought a beautiful home near the University. Carol had a son born last January and has a talented daughter named Diane.

Saralyn Sammons writes the Alumnae Office of her year's leave of absence from Georgia Military College and of her work on a Master's degree from Peabody College in the field of Business Education. She expects to graduate on June 5, 1953. To quote Saralyn, "Fortunately, I obtained an assistantship teaching in the Business Education Department here at Peabody College and in the Peabody Demonstration School."

1941

Ida Long Rogers, dean of Women at Georgia Teachers College, Statesboro, represented that college at the convention of the National Association of Deans of Women and American Personnel and Guidance Association in Chicago in April.

Sara Louise (Turner) Butler's home in Columbus, Ga., was damaged by the April 15th tornado and it had to be completely renovated.

1942

Jane (Gary) Miller's new address is c/o Lt. Cdr. C. E. Miller, Legal Office, NATTTC-NAS, Jacksonville, Fla.

When former vice-president Alben Barkley addressed the Electric Membership Corporation in Millen, Ga., during the summer, one of the pictures coming out in the state papers included Jane Mulkey, because the popular "Veep" said he "loved all girls named Jane!"

The christening dress worn by Ruth Gillis, daughter of Carolyn (Pharr) Norman, was made by her great-great-grandmother, and is almost 100 years old. Ruth (Pinkston) Norman, '09, is the baby's paternal grandmother, and the beautiful christening service was held in her home.

Miriam (Rudesal) Smith is proud of the young son, Alan Randolph, born in April. He has a big brother, Ralph, Jr.

Miriam's address is c/o Major Ralph B. Smith, 0-59514, USAHosp. 8169 A.U., APO 50, c/o P.M., San Francisco, Calif. Anne Hyer Smith received her Bachelor of Laws Degree from Emory University on June 6.

Bettye (Withers) Barnes writes of her classmate Virginia (Broome) Waterer who attended the "Coronation" and spent one month traveling in England and visiting her aunt. Virginia flew over and back, and before leaving New York had a 24 hour visit with another Wesleyan classmate, Betty (Anderson) Farkas, and family.

1943

Mary (Anderson) Comer's husband, John D., Macon Attorney and president of the Macon Legal Aid Society, was speaker at a meeting of the Soroptimist Club in June. They are the proud parents of a son, named James Anderson, born May 1. The baby is the grandson of Annie (Gantt) Anderson, A.B., 1913.

Sympathy is extended to Mamie (Griffin) Denson in the death of her brother, Henry Faulk Griffin, Jr. in March.

1944

Janet (Allcorn) Williams' husband is Property Manager for Sears, Roebuck & Co., in Atlanta. They have three little girls: Nelle, 6, Janet, 5, and Bliss, 2.

Martha (Harrison) Middlebrooks' husband, Rev. Charles Middlebrooks, Jr., was featured in a concert on June 5 in Rome, Ga., by the South Broad Methodist Wesleyan Service Guild to raise funds for the purchase of an organ for the church. Martha's husband was a member of the Emory University Glee Club for seven years, serving as president and as assistant director.

Frances Hurt is now Mrs. Forrest E. Holley. Her husband operates the Commercial Hotel in Aiken, S. C. Their little daughter, Susan, is two.

1945

Pauline Domingos received her Master's Degree early in June from the New York School of Social Work and returned to Macon immediately to continue her work with the Child Welfare division of the Bibb County Department of Public Welfare.

Sara (Griffin) James is now Mrs. Thomas P. James and still lives in Jesup, Ga.

Virginia (Harris) Howard's husband, Lee, was seriously injured in May during a strike at the paper mill where he was a plant manager. Their friends will be glad to know he is recovering.

Herbert Herrington, who received his B. M. degree from Wesleyan, received his M. M. degree last year from the American Conservatory of Music.

Frances (Rushton) Dollar left WeWitchka, Fla., when she lost her husband in 1951. She is now happily settled in Jackson, Miss., with her little 4-year-old daughter, Ava Jean.

1946

Sarah Ann "Sally" (Balkcom) Bevard and her husband live in Weisbaden, Germany, with their three boys aged 7, 3, and 2 weeks old. They will return to the States in November, 1954, and their address is: c/o Major F. B. Bevard, 13041A 7499th Composite Sqdn., APO 633, c/o Postmaster, New York.

Emily Bell writes enthusiastically of her "new" life in Mobile, Ala., where she has been living since returning in April 1952, and of her participation in the little theatre there. In October 1952 she opened Mobile's first private school in speech, called Emily Bell School of Speech. She further writes,

"I have a partner who received her M.A. last year from the University of Denver in Speech Correction. The combination of our talent is most satisfactory. She works with a handicapped child and I teach expression and diction to the normal child. Together we teach a course in 'Creative Drama'."

Sympathy is extended to Barbara (Britton) Dancey in the death of her mother, Mrs. Edward Britton, in April.

Marion (Chapman) Henigbaum writes the Alumnae Office from 300 N. Euclid, Apt. 308, Pasadena 4, Calif., as follows: "Our move to Pasadena came as a surprise for we had decided to stay in Chicago after my husband, Jack, had played the summer session at Grant Park. However, he was offered a position at the F. E. Olds & Son, Inc., in Los Angeles where he would learn the manufacture of french horns, the instrument he plays, and we took it. I was thrilled to see the Rose Parade on New Year's Day and the float with 'Miss America,' a fellow alumna on it and I wanted to shout 'Hail Wesleyan' when it passed me. In January I went back to Macon for a visit and saw Virginia (Larsen) Tinker and her two sons, one just three weeks old then. Jack has now worked up to the final assemblying and is tester for all french horns manufactured at the plant."

Janet (Hurley) Johnson of Baytown, Texas, writes that Nancy (Hurley) Duncan and her family, including three boys, Dick, 9 years old, Larry 7, and Paul, 4, moved to Detroit, Mich., in August, 1952. Their address is 20524 Schoenherr St. Janet has two boys, Doug, 8 years old, and Brad almost 4. She says we try to get our five boys together at least once a year.

Jacqueline (Lamm) Souder's husband, Redding Crawford Souder, Jr., took a three weeks course in the graduate school of banking at Rutgers University in June. He was one of three selected from the First National Bank & Trust Co. in Macon.

Virginia (Larsen) Tinker has moved to Macon from Milledgeville, "permanently," she hopes! Her address is: 1055 Cypress Drive, Macon, Ga.

Anne Morrison, who teaches in Waycross, Ga., is spending the summer in Europe and will tour eight countries there.

Louise (Pate) Skene and her husband have just moved into a new home at 4128 Del Rosa Drive, Jackson, Miss. Louise says what with getting settled, and looking after two babies, she keeps busy!

Joan (Tomlinson) Horton and her husband recently moved into a lovely new ranch-type home. Their address is 976 Dean Dr., N. W., Atlanta, Ga.

Peggy (Worley) Studwell and family now live at Route No. 1, New Canaan, Conn. They have three children, the second daughter having been born on May 25, Peggy's birthday too.

1947

Caroline (Anderson) Sheffield and her family live in Honolulu, T. H. (3313 A Francis St.), where Dick is in a Navy Squadron. The two little girls, Barbara, 4, and Jennifer, 2, eat poi and papayas, and go barefoot most of the time.

Peggy (Askew) Love and her small son, Bonny, were in their new home in Columbus, Ga., when the April 15th tornado struck and completely demolished it. They were miraculously unharmed.

Fran (Callaway) McCommon of Macon was installed as registrar of the Junior Group of Nathaniel Macon Chapter, D.A. R., at a dinner meeting in May.

Anne (Carlton) Blanchard writes that she and her husband, Richard, are being transferred to a church of their own, Wesleyan Methodist Church, Coral Gables, Fla. Her new address is 81 Campina Court, Coral Gables.

Eugenia (Corley) Simmons and her two children, Gena, aged 2 and Johnny aged 5, are happy to have their husband and father back home from Korea where he served as public information officer.

Frances (Harris) Trezevant's second daughter, Beatrice Howell, was born April 20, Frances and her family have returned from Mexico City, where Frederick did the work for his M.A. in Spanish. During the summer they will be at 112 Cherry St., Marietta, Ga. In the fall they go to the University of Missouri, where Frederick will be assistant instructor in Spanish. He will continue his study for his Ph.D.

Marjorie (Key) Lawrence, who is in Puerto Rico with her husband, Capt. Thomas Lawrence, writes of attending an orchid show recently.

Joan Nydegger is now Mrs. A. R. Hutchinson, 620 Florida Ave., Orlando, Fla. She and Allen have a son, Craig, born in November, 1952.

1948

Hattie Black (Baker) Richter's infant daughter, Vera Virginia, is named for her two grandmothers.

While working on the dissertation for her Ph.D., Peggy Beeson is teaching at the University of Texas. Her address is 411 W. 34th St., Austin, Texas.

Blanchie (Burgess) Wilder and husband moved on July 1 to Madison, Indiana, where her husband will be chaplain at the Madison State Hospital. Blanchie will be a staff secretary at the same hospital.

Jane (Clapp) Anderson's mother and her experiences while House Mother at the Central School, Presbyterian Mission at Lubondai, deep in the Belgian Congo, were interestingly written up in the Atlanta Constitution in July. Jane's mother and her sister, Mary Eleanor, will return to the States next July.

Rosaline Gilmore, daughter of Rosaline (Jenkins) Gilmore, '19, assistant director of the teenage department at the Y.W.C.A. in Atlanta, was one of two representatives sent to the National Y.W.C.A. Training School in Mt. Carroll, Ill., July 2-30.

William Harry Klump has been living in Europe for several years now. His school has moved to Sorrento, Italy, for the summer session. In August he is going to Switzerland.

Mary (McCown) Parkerson's husband, George Robert, was awarded the bachelor of science in medicine and M.D. degree at Duke University's 101st Commencement in June.

Ruth (Nesbitt) Procter's husband, Sam, Jr., returned in April from Korea. They with their three-year-old daughter, Claire, plan to visit in Georgia sometime during the summer.

Sue Marie (Thompson) Turner's home was damaged by the April 15th tornado that struck Columbus, Ga.

1949

Roslyn (Atkinson) Harden attended the graduation exercises of her husband, Timothy, Jr., from Emory University School of Medicine on June 6.

Peggy Carswell, who has been teaching physical education in Sarasota, Fla., is back in Macon with her family while attending summer school at Mercer University working for a master's degree. Just before reunion her apartment in Sarasota burned along with all her clothes and other items.

Adele (Dippy) Phillips, her husband and baby daughter born April 15, were transferred to Macon, then immediately following to Long Beach, Miss.

Marcello (DiVenuto) Wood has received her M.D. from the Medical College of Georgia and will interne at University Hospital in Augusta, Ga.

Mary Lane Edwards of New York City spent a few days in June with her mother, Emily (Brown) Edwards, '26, of Macon.

Frances Elliott is now Mrs. Edward Northmore Simons, and her address is 104 Parkway, W., Mt. Vernon, New York.

Beverly (Folsom) Dyer and her husband are proud of their second son born April 23, named Michael Edwin. Their older son, David Folsom, is now 4 years old.

Kate (Haywood) Robinson is now working at Glenn Memorial Methodist Church as youth director while her husband is studying for his Ph.D. in chemical research. Her address is Box 1022, Emory University, Ga.

Her Wesleyan friends will be saddened by the news of the death on April 23 of Elizabeth (Kuhn) Foreman. She is survived by her husband, Edwin, her father, a brother, and her paternal grandmother.

Alice (Leighton) Burner who lives in Jacksonville, Fla., has a son who will be a year old in August.

Lu Ann (Mooneyham) Jacobs is now living in Atlanta where her husband, Charles Stewart, '50, is studying dentistry at Emory University. They have a baby daughter, Linda, age eighteen months.

Nell Rodgers of Macon and New York received in April an eight-weeks fellowship from the Belgian-American Educational Foundation for the Art History Seminary in Brussels, July 7-August 29. Nell is employed by the Indian government at the United Nations. She left June 1 for Europe to visit some of the countries she did not see last year until time to attend the seminar in Brussels. She is the daughter of Lucille (Hatcher) Rodgers, '04.

Frances (Smith) Ramsey taught at the Methodist Youth Assembly of the South Georgia Conference held at Wesleyan in June. Frances is proud of her husband, Rev. Gilbert L. Ramsey, pastor of the Methodist Church at Leary. He was one of two Georgia Methodist ministers whose sermons were judged among the top ten in a contest among ministers of the nine Southeastern states.

Betty (Stanley) Butler wrote the Alumnae Office she regretted not coming down for the reunion of her class but her husband graduated June 1 from Duke University Law School. They moved immediately following graduation to 1534 Forest Ave., Wilmette, Illinois, a suburb of Chicago. Last February a daughter was born whom they named Elizabeth Darsey for her grandmother, Bess (Darsey) Stanley, '26.

Sympathy is extended to Ada Jane (Tompkins) Heard in the death of her father, George D. Tompkins, on May 11.

Betty Lou (Turner) Curry who is vice-president of the Macon League of Women Voters, has served as acting-president much of the past year.

1950

Louise Cochran is now Mrs. M. R. Mayfield, and lives at 1381-A Adams St., Macon, Ga.

June Daugherty teaches second grade at Brandeis school in Louisville, Ky. Her address is 515 Fairlawn Road. She writes she had a wonderful visit with Midge Manson in Miami in December.

Nann (Eldridge) Manly's husband reported to Camp Stoneman, Calif., on April 20 for overseas duty, then she returned from California in time for her class reunion.

Sympathy is extended to Charleen (Gaulden) Gardner in the death of her grandfather in July.

Allene (Hall) Pippin has just received her Master's Degree in Education at the University of Oklahoma, where her husband at the same time is getting his Bachelor of Divinity Degree.

Ruth (Hardeman) Schubring's mother and sisters visited her and her husband, Ken, in Pensacola, Fla., in June.

Rooney Klump has just returned to Ohio from a wonderful trip around the world. She writes that she almost didn't come back from the South Pacific it is so beautiful.

Norma Lee is now Mrs. Norma Taylor. She still lives at Alma, Ga.

Edith Pickell writes she has been teaching third grade at Giffin School in Knoxville, Tenn., for the past year and enjoyed it.

1951

Rebecca (Dodd) Hollady's husband received his B.D. degree in June from Candler School of Theology and he is now associate pastor of the First Methodist Church in Orlando. On August 9, their wedding day, Rebecca had Ann Purvis, '51, and her roommate, Few (Bigbie) Mixon, '51, as bridesmaids. Her sister, Matilda (Dodd) Trawick, '50, played the violin and served as her matron of honor.

June was really an important month for Sidney Ford. She was awarded the M.A. degree for her work in biochemistry at Duke University Hospital. On June 6 she was married to Dr. Louis Tatom III, of Clinton, N. C., and Gainesville, Fla. Dr. Tatom, who has been serving as a member of the house staff of Sampson County Memorial Hospital, Clinton, N. C., received his M.D. in June from the Duke University School of Medicine. Sidney brought her husband out to Wesleyan the middle of June and enjoyed showing him the entire campus.

Turner Gaughf, a Navy veteran and now director of the Lanier Senior High School Band, was guest conductor when the Notre Dame Band played two performances at Wesleyan School of Fine Arts.

Ann Hawks is now Mrs. A. B. Nimocks, Jr. She still lives in Forest City, Ark.

Betty Neylans, who has been doing graduate work at the University of N. C., spent the summer in Europe. She was with a group of students, and they spent four weeks studying at the University of Grenoble, Grenoble, France, and then four weeks at the University of Santander in Spain.

Nancy (Wyatt) Ezzard didn't let the new son born March 8 keep her from the Alumnae Day luncheon. She brought him along to show him off and the husband as a baby sitter while she "reunited".

1952

Charlotte Battle, back for her class reunion in May, advised she was doing continuity writing for radio station WKLO in Louisville, Ky., preparatory to going into television operation early this fall.

Martha Bielmann writes from Jacksonville, Fla., that she loves her work as Educational assistant with the young people of the Southside Methodist Church.

In July she directed a Youth Week at First Methodist Church in New Smyrna Beach and in August will teach a course at one of the Assemblies at the Methodist Youth Camp in Leesburg. She is planning to visit her roommate, Peg Whitaker, '53, during her vacation and attend the wedding of Mary Holland, '53.

Paulina Buhl visited Wesleyan and her roommate a week in April. She will receive her Master's in English in August from Chapel Hill, N. C.

Ann (Clark) Holloman has had quite a trek during the past sixteen months as she followed her Air Force husband from Cheyenne, Wyoming, to Greenville, South Carolina, then to Belleville, Illinois, and now to Alexandria, La. She has a six-months old son, Richard Charles Holloman, Jr.

Ann Crocroft is now Mrs. Wynn. She makes her home in Miami.

June (Crumbless) Martin painted a portrait of the prize winner at the Beaux Arts Ball held in Macon in May.

Martha Davis, who is doing graduate work at Emory University, will have her picture used in the beauty section of the Emory yearbook.

Caroline Hopkins says she finds great use for her Wesleyan training in the new job she took with American Telegraph and Telephone Co., in New York. She handles stockholders' correspondence by telephone in the Treasurer's Office of that company. She writes, "I can often hear Dr. Sherriff, Dr. Gin, Dr. Thoburn, Dr. Bosch, Miss Katharine Johnson, Miss Candler in the background of today's adventures. I should include 'Doc' Howell even though I never understood a word of science because some of it stuck and takes on meaning now. Tell Miss Kern that I wish I had been better at French and plan to try again. Tell Miss Carlton that I wish I had taken more mathematics for I have great use for it now."

Carol Northcutt is now Mrs. Daniel M. Worley, and her address is 615-D, Pinecrest Cir., Marietta, Ga.

Barbara Watkins had one of the leads in "Mr. Pim Passes By," recently produced by the Emory Players.

1953

The first baby of the class of 1953! Betty Lou (Barber) McClure, graduate of January, 1953, is the proud mother of Elizabeth Kathryn born April 9. They are making their home at 515 Third Ave., Asbury Park, N. J.

Virginia Eidson is now Mrs. Virginia Robertson, of 1829 Avon Ave., S.W., Atlanta, Ga.

Selma Haubenstock of Tampa, Fla., who received the B.F.A. degree June 1, had an exhibit of drawings in fashion design and advertising in the Conservatory gallery early in May.

Sally Higgins, an Ensign in the Waves since her graduation in January, received her A.B. degree in absentia. Her address is now USNTS, W.O.Q. Bldg. 113, Newport, R. I. She writes that it is really the life and she is crazy about it. She hopes to be home about ten days in August before receiving a permanent assignment.

Jean (Nixon) Gaby and her husband are living at 279 Cedar Ave., West End, N. J.

Patricia Robins received her B.S. degree in Elementary Education from Peabody College on June 5, and is in her second quarter of Master's work there.

Mary (Tidwell) Williams will continue to live in Philadelphia where her husband, Dr. Howard J. Williams, has been appointed resident pediatrician.

Nancy Jane Trice, formerly of Atlanta and now of Houston, Texas, was grad-

Marshall Scholarships Announced

American graduate students wishing to study at a British University will be interested to hear of the Marshall Scholarships, a series of awards available for the first time in the academic year of 1954-55.

The series is being established by the British Government as a gesture of thanks for Marshall Aid, in gratitude for America's generous and far-sighted program for European recovery.

Twelve scholarships will be granted annually, each for a two-year period which may be extended to three. Eligible for competition are U. S. citizens, men or women under the age of 28, graduates of accredited U. S. colleges or universities. The scholarships may be held at any British university.

The value of each award will be £550 a year, with an extra £200 a year for married men. Transportation will be provided from home to the British university and back.

Applications for the 1954-55 scholarships must be made by November 1, 1953. Prospective candidates should write to the British Consul-General for the region for which application is to be made: Eastern Region—350 Fifth Ave., N. Y. 1, N. Y.; Southern Region—National Bank of Commerce Bldg., 210 Baronne St., New Orleans 12, La.; Middle West Region—720 North Michigan Ave., Chicago 11, Ill.; Pacific Region—310 Sansome St., San Francisco 4, Calif.

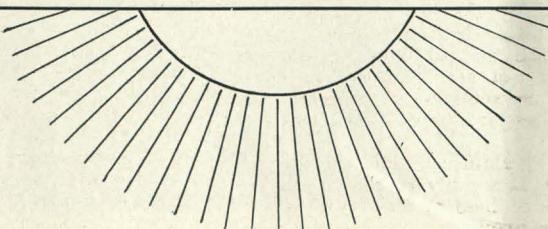

uated from the University of Houston on June 5 with a B.S. degree, majoring in music education.

Erma Vogt, who received her A.B. degree in January, is studying at the Harrison-Draughon School of Commerce in Atlanta and now lives at 272 Cambridge Ave., Decatur.

Mammas Take Notice!

Q. Do women's colleges turn out more spinsters than coed colleges?

A. No, fewer. President Lynn White, Jr., Mills Momen's College (California), writes that only 73 per cent of 60,000 coed grads ultimately married, in contrast to 76 per cent of women's college grads (non-Catholic). For special reasons, the percentage of married Catholic women grads is somewhat lower. In Dr. White's opinion, women's colleges give girls a higher sense of personal worth and coed colleges make them feel inferior because men students think if they're smart they're

It's Never Too Hot!

Dogs go mad in August and foam at the mouth! People sink into summer doldrums, drink lemonade and fan their brows! It's too hot to work; too hot to play; almost too hot to go fishin'.

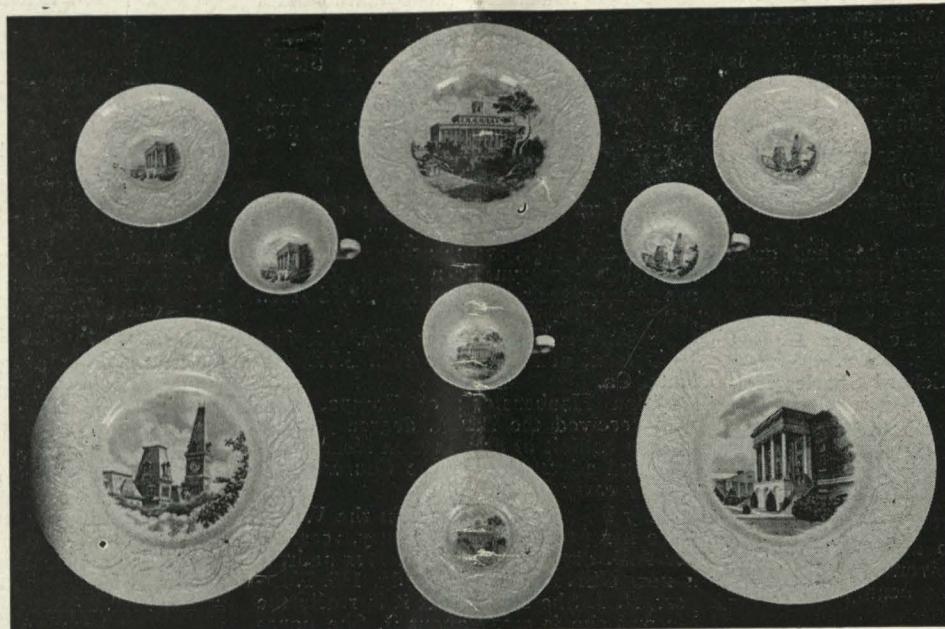

But it's NOT too hot to send your check to Wesleyan's Loyalty Fund . . . it's not too hot today . . . it's never too hot to be loyal!

Remember, August 31 is the deadline for 1952-53. The entire list of contributors will be published in September. Will you be among those present? It's never too hot to be loyal!

Whose Children and Grandchildren?

Top row, left to right: Sally, Paul, Jr., and Frances, children of Frances (Justi) Best, '33; Debbie and Robin, children of Elizabeth (Craven) Cobb, '27. Second row: Kathleen Golden and Mildred Watts, daughters of Mary Ann (Mathews) Pease, '44, granddaughters of the late Weeta (Watts) Mathews, '19, great-granddaughters of the late Annie (MacDonell) Mathews, '80; Joseph Charles Wheeler II, son of Evelyn (Cason) Wheeler, '49; John England Catlin III, son of Jane (Schmidt) Catlin, '51. Bottom right: Thomas, son of Jean (Elsom) Hogan, '51.

ORDER

Wesleyan Wedgwood China, priced \$2.25 plus postage and insurance, for either size plate or for a cup and saucer combined. Plates $10\frac{1}{4}$ " and $9\frac{1}{4}$ ".

Colors: mulberry, blue, rose, green. We have a large stock of towers and the original building, but our stock is exhausted on large library plates. We hope to receive more in the future.

Add .25c packing fee on orders for less than six items. We suggest you place your order first. The day the package is shipped, we will notify you; then you may write your check (payable to Wesleyan Alumnae Association) to cover cost of Wedgwood, packing, postage and insurance.

ORDER

Chopin Albums by Professor Joseph Maerz. We have a small stock of these albums left and will be glad to fill your order. Cost, $10.00 plus postage and insurance.
Order these today.

ORDER

Wesleyan informal notepaper with campus scenes etched in black. Box of 12 with old College towers and Rivoli student activities building. Cost $1.05 including postage.